

All ages served by local YMCA

"This YMCA is a family YMCA," said Sue Bowser, creative class coordinator for the YMCA, "we have activities for from six months up."

Although, the initials, YMCA stand for Young Men's Christian Association, Bowser emphasized that Lane County has a family oriented YMCA rather than one specializing in serving young men.

There are campus branches of the YMCA and the YWCA (Young Womens Christian Association) which are separate branches of the national organization, but which cooperate with the Lane County YMCA chapter, bowser said.

According to Lane YMCA literature, this county branch hopes to "provide for the physical, emotional, intellectual and spiritual development of the individual, the group, the family and the community with programs designed to meet the expressed needs of the people within the community; and programs supplemental to existing community programs; programs of an experimental nature to meet potential community problems."

"As far as programs, we want to have an emphasis on families, with pre-school and grade school programs as our best," Bowser said. Kinderym and Swim are offered for ages two years to five, and a special mother and child swim course for mothers with children between six months and two years of age is offered.

A membership in the YMCA covers use of its facilities and participation in most of the special activities and classes which the YMCA sponsors.

Membership fees vary with age and may be paid either in a lump sum or in installments. A family membership costs $115 if the parents are 30-years old and under, $161 if the parents are 31-years of age or older and $210 for a Business Men's Division family membership, which covers use of special facilities and a few other added benefits.

The youth annual membership fee is $28, with the men's membership fee set at $40 for men between the ages of 19 and 24, $51 for men between the ages of 25 and 30 and $80 for ages 31 and over. The women's membership fee is $40 for ages 19 to 24, $51 for ages 25 to 30 and $69 for ages 31 and over. If the membership fee is paid on the installment plan the annual fee is about $5 more.

Book lists nursery schools

A directory of Lane County nursery schools and kindergartens has just been published by NOW—National Organization for Women. The directory lists 120 facilities in the Eugene, Springfield and Lane County areas and is designed to help parents locate satisfactory pre-school care for their children now that school is about to begin.

The directory includes information about costs, scholarships, daily schedules, teacher qualifications, state licensing and the school's philosophy.

The information was gathered by a questionnaire sent to all Lane County day care centers, nursery schools and kindergartens by the NOW organization. One of NOW's national goals is to promote more and better child care facilities for the nation's youth.

The project was financed by Lane County 4-Cs (Community Coordinated Child Care Council) which is a federally-funded non-profit corporation established to help communities provide comprehensive child care programs for all children regardless of economic background.

The Lane County PTA Council assisted in the publication of the directory.

Directories are available free in most Lane County communities through local PTAs or can be ordered or obtained by contacting Lane County 4-Cs, 1074 Willamette in Eugene, 342-5456.

BROADWAY

IMAGINE THAT *

An ages old golden oak hall tree, a resurrected Tiffany (we think) hanging lamp, an assembly of super size tinkertoys . . . and none of them are for sale. Each adds to the spirit of the New Broadway store. It took the imagination of Dave and Linda Sherman to decorate this new environment. Special, hand made pieces were commissioned by local artists and craftsmen. Natural woods country house color and comfort, merge with the exuberance of contemporary design. Park in the Overpark and come see us. We think you'll like our new environment.

* 'Imagine that' just happens to be the title of one of our 3 sportswear departments. there is a price range and style for everyone.
