

You find the Outdoor Program office by going around to the south side of the building and going down a flight of stairs and through the basement door. Here you will find complete information about the university's outdoor programs. Great things happen here. If outdoor activity is your cup of tea, hurry on down and make yourself known.

Those long fall and spring evenings can be turned into a little something extra if you take advantage of the EMU's canoe rental service. Lean back and watch the fleecy white clouds float gently while you drift down the Mill Race. It's great for relaxation and meditation. Try it by asking at the recreation desk.

Try it, you'll like it. The recreation area was installed especially for those who have a little leisure time on their hands now and then. If you let your imagination go for a minute or two, you will find something you will like in the recreation area, whether it be a game of table tennis, a little joust with a pin ball machine or other game of skill, a few racks of pool, bowling, and shuffleboard. You'll nearly always find spectators willing to help kibbitz if you're not inclined to take part in the games themselves. Make yourself at home, wander around and get acquainted with the building and the people.

KEY

Elevator	*
Telephones	Ⓐ
Women	W
Men	M
Mech. Storage Staff or Vacant	■

The lower floor houses a large reading and study room. Turn right when you reach the bottom of the stairs leading down from the main lobby.

Look to the Outdoor Resource Center or the Outdoor Program office for complete information about outdoor sports and recreation.

You can either rent or buy all the equipment you need to participate in the outdoor programs through the Outdoor Resource Center located in the southeast corner of the EMU lower floor. A cordial welcome awaits you . . . come in and browse.