

On area roads

Bike lanes to be added

Bike paths will grace improved Eugene streets if a design recommended Thursday by the Mayor's Bicycle Advisory Committee is approved. According to Tom Poage, a city engineer, the design would be used in improvement of Cal Young Rd., Echo Hollow Rd., and Norkenzie Rd. Funds for the improvement of these roads were approved in the November general election.

The proposed design includes two 11-foot wide traffic lanes, separated by a 12-foot wide turn lane, Poage said. Next to each curb, he said, is a bike lane 4.5 feet wide. The design includes no provision for parking, Poage noted, but the roads to be improved allow no parking now, and development nearby has provided for off-street parking.

The design includes wide, concrete curbs which incorporate the bike paths. While the bike path is level with the roadway, Poage observed, it is differentiated from the roadway by color.

Another advantage Poage claimed for the design is the location of the tire-grabbing joint between the curb and the roadway—out of the cyclist's way. Poage also said that, while firm figures must await bidding, he believes that the proposed design will cost no more than standard designs.

After the meeting, Ruth Bascom, committee chair, said that bids will be received this Spring for construction of the West Amazon Bikeway, which will allow cyclists to ride from West 15th Ave. across the fairgrounds to Chambers St. Bascom said that the path will benefit students living in the Westmoreland project, and should be completed next summer.

Recruiters here

Peace Corps and VISTA field representatives will visit the campus this week. They will be available at a table on the EMU Terrace from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The team is interested in talking to students in the fields of law, architecture, economics, journalism, physical education, recreation, business administration and liberal arts, according to Frank Fischer, a former Vista volunteer. "The Peace Corps, which for the past couple of years has turned off liberal arts majors, is definitely interested in them again," said Fischer.

The recruiters are also eager to talk to persons with mechanical skills, engineers, persons with farming or ranching experience and education majors.

On Campus

Native American chief to speak

Chief Dan George, Native American actor, well-known for his performance in "Little Big Man," will give a free public address on "Integration and the Brotherhood of Man" tonight at 8 in the EMU ballroom.

He will also be a Personality-In-Residence in the dormitories.

Chief Dan received an Academy Award nomination for his performance as "Old Lodgeskins" in "Little Big Man."

In 1960, Chief Dan entered television acting with the role of "Old Antoine" in a Canadian Broadcasting Corporation series called "Caribou Country." Over the next five years, he appeared in some 25 television dramas, began to perform on radio, and gained a reputation as a public speaker.

In 1966, one of the CBC television scripts, "How to Break a Quarterhorse," was adapted as a feature film by Walt Disney Studios and Chief Dan was invited to recreate his part. This led in turn to several appearances in American television dramas and to his performance in "Little Big Man."

Chief Dan George

Festival of Arts concerts slated

Four Festival of Arts noon hour concerts are scheduled this week: A classical guitar concert will be presented at 12:30 p.m., Tuesday (January 16) in the EMU Browsing Rm.

The Baroque Chamber Group will present a 12:30 p.m. concert on Wednesday in the EMU 2nd floor lobby.

The University of Oregon Chamber Ensemble will perform Thursday at 12:30 p.m. in the EMU Browsing Rm.

The final noon hour concert of the Festival will be a performance by the Framonti String Quartet at 12:45 p.m., Friday in the EMU Browsing Rm.

Computer networks topic of lecture

Computer expert David Farber, who is the principal investigator of the Distributed Computer System Project at the University of California at Irvine, will be a speaker at the University of Oregon this afternoon.

Farber will give a public talk on "The Current State of Computer Network Technology and Projection for the 70's," at 1:30 p.m. in the EMU.

ECC student positions open

Applications are now being taken to fill the student position on the Educational Coordinating Council (ECC).

The ECC is a state agency responsible for the administration of federal higher education funds, data collection for federal accumulation, planning the educational efforts of the state, and any other special studies which the legislature or some other body may wish done.

The first student appointment was made to the Council a year ago. That appointment was made by the Inter-institutional Union of Students and the process has become formalized for each year.

IUS delegations at each campus will screen the applicants and then the IUS state assembly will make the final nominations to the Governor.

Members of the Council attend a meeting every other month, and put in about 20 hours work per week. The student should have some background in educational philosophy and be able to work with and debate administrators such as Chancellor Lieuellen and legislators such as Vic Atiyeh.

Information and applications are available in 303 EMU in the IUS office.

Community

Panel to discuss computer networks

A proposal to link the nine state campuses together into a centralized computer network will be the topic of a panel discussion to be held by area educators. The proposal comes from the State System of Higher Education and the panel discussion, scheduled for tonight, will be at a meeting of the Eugene chapter of the Data Processing Management Assn.

Participating in the discussion will be: Mike Jennings, State Systems data systems coordinator; George Struble, director of the computer center at the University; and Floyd Wilkes, director of data processing at Lane Community College, who will be the moderator.

Open to the public, the discussion will be at Bev's Steak House in Eugene, with a social hour starting at 6 p.m., followed by a dinner.

Monday, January 15, 1973

seafarer
PANTS

BILL BAKER'S
Mens Wear

881 EAST 13th

the sound of fillmore west
comes to Eugene with the elvin

bishop group

Two shows — 7 & 10 p.m.

Friday, January 19
Lane County Fair Grounds

$3 advance

$3.50 at door

Providence

Tickets at Sun Shop and Chrystalship

Double Tee Productions

If you're into quiet, uncrowded skiing, we've got all the equipment you'll need . . . skis by Splitkein
and Madshus, poles,
waxes, boots, Woolrich
clothing, and the incredible
Powderhorn parkas.

You can also rent a complete
ski touring package, including the wax.

Look over our complete selection of packing
and camping equipment, too.
Come visit us in the basement of the erb memorial union.

outdoor resource center
686-3089

The Oregon Daily Emerald is published Monday through Friday during the school year, except during exam and vacation periods, and four times weekly during summer session by the Emerald Board of Directors at the University of Oregon.

Second class postage paid at Eugene, Oregon, 97406.

Subscription rates:

(1) University of Oregon student and faculty staff subscription rates are based on annual contracts between the Emerald and the ASUO and the Emerald and the University administration. The rate of these subscriptions is approximately $2.00 per year.

(11) Special subscriptions for persons not included in category (1) are available at a rate of $10.00 per year, $9.00 per academic year, and $3.50 per term.

Bill Bucy
Al Phelps

Editor
General Manager

