University rates high

The University is rated one of the top institutions of higher education in the United States in the teaching of educational administration, according to a recent study.

The study, patterned after the 1969 American Council on Education rating of graduate programs, shows the Department of Educational Administration of the University's College of Education ranking third in the quality of its faculty, among 80 institutions.

The University department also rated sixth on the quality of its program of study.

The scholars evaluated faculties primarily on their research activities, teaching effectiveness, publication record, professional service contribution, and special achievements and recognition.

The University of Chicago was rated best in both categories evaluated — the quality of its faculty and of its program of study.

Music school to present concert

Tonight at 8 p.m. at the School of Music Recital Hall, a recital of three cycles will be presented by Professor Exine Anderson Bailey, assisted by Alex Hrisanide, pianist, and John Hamilton, organist; all members of the faculty of the School of Music.

The program will include: "Das Marienlieder" by Flor Peeters, a Belgian organist and composer. The cycle consists of six songs on the life of the Virgin Mary, translated into English from the Flemish by Hugh Ross.

Also on the program will be "Frauenliebe und Leben", a group of eight poems by Abelbert von Chamisso set to music by Robert Schumann in 1840.

Concluding the recital will be Maurice Ravel's song cycle, "Sheherazade," written in 1903 to three poems selected from a volume of colorful evocations of the Orient, written by Tristan Klingsor (a Wagnerian disguise for Leon Leclere).

Two to receive Chinese scholarships

Andrew Earl Ferguson, senior, and Dan Lee Miller, junior, both Chinese majors, have been selected this term as recipients of Roger Hong Scholarships in Chinese Studies. They will each receive a stipend of $100. Roger Hong (class of '65), of Beaverton, Ore., established these awards to promote interest in Chinese studies at the University. Three more scholarships will be available for those students who will be enrolling in the intensive Second-Year Chinese course offered during Summer Session '73. Interested persons may pick up application forms at the office of the Department of Classics, and of Chinese and Japanese during the early part of Spring Quarter.

Parts still available in play

Parts are still available for Robert Greene's "The Honorable History of Friar Bacon and Friar Bungay." Director Suzanne Stassevitch announces auditions and callbacks to be held at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, in the Pocket Theater, Villard Hall.

Those who have already auditioned may check the call back list on the Speech Office Bulletin board, second floor Villard.

All those interested are encouraged to attend auditions or call Stassevitch at 686-4190 or 342-7876.

Army medical scholarship available

The army Medical Department is accepting applications until May 1 for the Army Health Professions Scholarship for the 1973-74 academic year.

Under the program, those selected for scholarships are given about $5,300 annually. Those selected would also:

- Be commissioned as officers in the U.S. Army Reserves.
- Draw $400 a month plus tuition and other academic expenses from the government.
- Serve on active duty for 45 days a year as a second lieutenant, but not to interfere with normal academic training. During this time the individual receives full pay and allowances.

Applications should be made to local Army Medical Department personnel.

Future power policy discussed

Representatives of utility companies and environmental groups will discuss who decides future power policy in a public meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Central Lane County on Wednesday, at 9:30 a.m. in the Eugene City Council Chambers. The session will conclude with lunch at noon in the Alcove Room of the Eugene Hotel. Participants may order lunch there or bring their own.

Among those scheduled to participate are Kelly Woods, coordinator of the Nuclear and Thermal Energy Council; William Holser, chairman of the University geology department; Wilbur McNulty, Committee for the Conservation of Energy; Byron Price, manager of EWEB; David Piper, public utilities commissioner's office; and Roy Bessey, U.S. Department of the Interior (retired). Marian Frank, member of the local League of Women Voters, will moderate the discussions; and Grace Phinney from the State League committee on environmental quality will summarize and conclude the meeting during the noon hour.

This conference is open to the public as well as members of the League of Women Voters. There will be no cost or prior registration needed.

Peace activities scheduled tonight

Local representatives of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will present an explanation of Medical Aid for Indochina tonight at 7:30 at the Newman Center, 1850 Emerald.

A presentation on the activities of the Eugene chapter of Clergy and Laymen Concerned and a movie "Village by Village" will also be part of the night's activities.

Kerans named 'Democrat' editor

Former Emerald editor Grattan Kerans has been named as the new editor of The Oregon Democrat, an independent Democratic newspaper distributed in Oregon on a quarterly basis.

Kerans replaces Dorothy Leeper who has been editor of the paper since its inception in 1969.

Kerans said he plans to expand the size of the paper and to eventually publish the paper on a monthly basis.
