Slide-lecture on Kabuki Theatre today

George Murphy, an advisor from the University of Washington, will present a free public slide-lecture on the Japanese Kabuki theatre today at 8 p.m. in Room 166 Lawrence.

The lecture, sponsored by the University's Japanese department, will discuss some of Murphy's personal experiences in the theatre, current Kabuki artists, and various other aspects of this traditional Japanese art.

Murphy was apprenticed to leading Kabuki artist Onoe Kuroemon in 1964, and since that time has travelled to Japan a number of times. Through his experiences he has become well versed in the details of Japanese theatre, and personally acquainted with a number of actors.

The lecture is being sponsored by the Japanese department in conjunction with a Japanese print display scheduled for April.

Registrar's office will be closed Monday

The Office of the Registrar will be closed on Monday, February 5, 1973 as this is a legal Civil Service Holiday.

O'Connell will lecture on art

A free lecture entitled "Patterns and My Journals" is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. today in 177 Lawrence Hall.

The lecturer will be Kenneth O'Connell, visiting assistant professor of art.

He received a master of fine arts degree in film from the University in 1972.

The lecture is part of a series sponsored by the School of Architecture and Allied Arts.

Parent effectiveness sessions slated

A series of parent effectiveness training sessions to teach parents how to handle themselves in relation to their children will be held during the coming weeks under the sponsorship of the University Campus YMCA.

The weekly sessions are aimed specifically at student parents, according to Kirk Johnson, director of the Campus YMCA.

An organizational meeting is scheduled at 7 p.m. Sunday in the Westmoreland Center, 2055 16th Way. Frank Tilly, who recently received his Master's degree in Counseling from the University, will organize the parents into groups that will meet for one and one-half hours each week under the direction of members of the University Department of Counseling. Each group will meet for eight to ten weeks, with meeting times determined at the organizational meeting.

Former student's film to be shown

This Sunday's version of the television show Mancini's Generation will include a film segment made by Daniel McCraw, a student at the University last year.

KPTV Promotion Manager Elizabeth Morris said the film is set to the song I Love You and Don't You Forget It.

The television show will be at 9:30 on KPTV.

Community

Powell will speak to Rubicon society

Rubicon Society luncheon speaker this week will be Don Powell, district representative for the Fourth Congressional District for the last four years.

Powell's topic will be "RIP (Rest in Peace) — Progressive Republicanism."

The luncheon meeting is at noon today at the King's Table, 85 Oakway Mall, and is open to the public.

Job Corps grads to hear student

Lydia Aguayo, a former Tongue Point Job Corpswoman, now attending the University, will be the speaker for the Center's Feb. 5 graduation ceremonies. Some 30 corpswomen will receive their graduation certificates at 4 p.m. that day in the Robert Burns Memorial Theatre.

The 19-year-old Aguayo completed her work at Tongue Point in August and enrolled as a full-time student in September under the SESAMEX program for Chicanos.

Correction on concert location

Notary Sojac and Da Hotz, two local rock and roll bands, will play at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the EMU Ballroom. Admission is $1.50.

The Emerald's Weekend Preview column incorrectly reported Thursday that the concert would be held at the "Valley Memorial Center." The concert is a benefit for Canterbury Center.

Get rid of distress physically

A series of classes on the Fundamentals of Reevaluation Co-Counseling, a physical means of getting rid of distresses, begins Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at Friends Meeting Hall, 2274 Onyx. The class is sponsored by Personal Counselor Inc., a non-profit organization. For further information, contact Karrolle Engleman, 342-1071.

Yoga teaching to be offered

An Intensive in the Yoga of Awareness, Kundalini Yoga, is being held Friday through Sunday, Feb 9-11, to offer the teachings of all those aspects of yoga which can help an individual be more relaxed, healthy, happy and consciously aware. Reservations should be made by Feb. 5. Call 686-0432 for further information.
