-Chairman, Incidental Fee Committee
-Former Draft Counselor

GLORIA GONZALEZ for Vice-President
-Past Assistant Director, Mecha (Chicano Student Union)

Campaign Issues

1. New Leadership - New Priorities for the ASUO.

2. Erosion of Student Power - The University Administration is attempting to erode student power in the University. Randy and Gloria oppose these attempts by the University Administration: specifically:

A. President Clark's so-called "co-governance" proposal giving students 10 per cent vote in governing the University. Any co-governance proposal which doesn't equalize student power with Administration - Faculty power is unacceptable to Shilts and Gonzalez.

B. The proposed so-called "cultural centers." This proposal erodes student control over student programs and co-opts student power.

3. Shilts and Gonzalez support humanistic concerns such as:

- A. Women's Rights-Women's Studies
- B. Housing
- C. Daycare
- D. Gay Rights

E. Environmental Programs

F. Minority Programs

G. Innovative Education

4. Randy and Gloria pledge to stay on their jobs in Eugene and not to spend the majority of their time in Salem so ASUO policies aren't set and regulated by non-elected student and University bureaucrats as happened with Wyatt-Loveys.

SHILTS AND GONZALEZ

-New Leadership-not ASUO politicians or bureaucrats.

-We must stop passing student power from hand to hand in one small social clique.

Support clean and honest elections-Report election irregularities to candidates, Emerald, ASUO.

Vote: Dwight Schwab - Open Government

-posted bulletins of official business and decisions
-open information meetings
-collective thinking and action

Being my first year at the University of Oregon, my ideas and thoughts have been quickly shaped by the campus environment and students around me. I've all but too often seen a person run for office and the prestige of the position rather than the reason for it. My main goal, if elected vice-president of the Sophomore Class, is to provide a sound basis for a student government. I believe that students of this university deserve a more active leadership that is free of standardized thinking and ideas. A leadership of fresh thinkers that are still immune to political cliques should be demanded by the Student-Body of Oregon, and, if elected, I pledge to bring in the fresh ideas and the sound judgment needed to occupy the position of Vice-President. I pledge to make my position one of trust and respect and work for the day that the Sophomore Class or for that matter, any class, is able to understand exactly what their leaders are doing through posted bulletins and open information meetings and discussions. The position of vice-president has been occupied too long by people interested in the title and not the responsibility.

Please help me achieve this goal by voting for my thoughts, and not my name in the primary Tuesday, April 17th.

successful food drive for the poor (close to 2 tons of food).

What I hope to accomplish for the Junior Class would be similar in that I would want:

- 1. Fundraising events for the Heart Association
- 2. Continuation of the elderly program
- 3. Continuation of the food drive for the poor
- 4. And, including an improved parents weekend.

I've gained a lot of knowledge from Sophomore government this past year, and I only hope that I will be able to improve on what I've already gained.

JUNIOR CLASS VICE-PRESIDENT

Mary E. McFarland

Sophomore - Journalism

Statement:

As Junior Class Vice-President, my goals would be to interest and involve our class in activities that would serve our class, campus, and community.

For Parent's Weekend, the chief responsibility of the Junior Class, I would work for more university planned events such as movies, a street fair, campus tours, and guest speakers.

I would also like to continue the projects that I have worked on this past year as a member of the Sophomore Class Council: Raising money for the heart fund and sponsoring another food drive for emergency relief in the Eugene area.

I believe that the class councils should work together and be aware of each other's activities to form an effective means of serving and interesting Oregon students.

Statement:

After being a vice president for two years, I have come to the conclusion that being president is the best way to accomplish your goals for office. My goals for senior year are as follows:

-A working Board made up of the class officers to use the resources made available in an effort to work for their classes.

-Pre-registration for seniors in classes they must have to graduate

-Office hours set up for the class officers enabling greater input of ideas from members of the student body.

-More visibility for and better placement counseling services for graduating seniors.

There really aren't a lot of huge, tremendous things we can accomplish as seniors, but there are ways to help the senior in preparing for graduation and this is the area my main interests lie.

Statement:

The duties of the Senior Class President are to work with the Alumni, to help in the planning of spring graduation, and to make the last year of college a little more bearable for the Senior Class, through programs of his or her own initiative. I'm experienced in this type of work. My sophomore year, I was on the sophomore class council and was dorm fund coordinator for the Great Race. I've been an ASUO senator, Fiscal Committee member, Community Affairs Committee member and chairman, and ASUO Representative to the Eugene City Council. I want the position, but please look over the voters' guide statements of the other candidates and make a thoughtful choice.

Junior - Political Science

Statement:

Why do we need a Senior Class President? Perhaps we don't. Now, the president's paramount obligation is with alumni relations. That's fine, but I don't think it's enough. I've got some new ideas about how the office can take on expanded importance. Step One has already been taken . . . Class Presidents now serve on the executive's cabinet. With the abolition of the Senate, a commensurate increase in the power of the executive and his cabinet comes. That means that the classes have more influence on the policies of the ASUO. They may affect the allocation of the incidental fee. As a former member of the Program Director's Council, I could certainly contribute in the effort to economize so that we all might save. Another duty the Senior Class should be undertaken is to provide a service to help students cut the red-tape which surrounds the University bureaucracy. We need a collective, authoritative organization to provide such a service. I believe that class government should serve as ombudsmen. We should also support such meritorious causes as restoration of the Mill Race and a tavern in the Emu.

We don't need class government if it is without impact. Please give me the opportunity to inject meaning into this system.
