Law school awards 15
scholarships

The University of Oregon Law School has announced the awarding of 15 scholarships for the 1973-74 academic year.

David Culpepper, of Portland, who begins his third year of law study this fall at Oregon, has been awarded the $1200 Jackson Foundation Scholarship by the trustees of the Jackson Foundation.

The Herbert B. Galton Law Scholarship, a $300 award made possible through a gift from Portland attorney Herbert Galton, has been given to Clayton Brant of Omaha, Neb. This award was made to the student who indicates the greatest interest in problems of employed persons.

Richard Caswell, Portland, has won the L. Leon Ray Memorial Scholarship, a $500 award established in memory of the late Leon Ray, a well-known Eugene attorney, and awarded to a student demonstrating unusual academic achievement in the School of Law.

The $500 Kathryn Fenning Owens Memorial Scholarship has been awarded to Royce Fukuya, Honolulu, Hawaii.

Henry Breithaupt, Portland, is the winner of the James T. Landye Award. Landye is a graduate of the UO Law School and a Portland attorney. The scholarship is awarded to a scholastically superior student.

Jeffrey Gilligan, Portland, has won the James D. Barnett Memorial Scholarship. This $250 scholarship is awarded annually from a fund established in memory of Professor James Barnett.

Nine UO law students have been given $500 School of Law scholarships. The winners are as follows: Roland Johnson, Mary McLaughlin, Marget Packard, and Jeffrey Waarvick, all of Portland; James Mullins, Astoria; Paul Nelson, Salem; Warren Marshall, Lakewood, Colo.; William Cronin, Manchester, N.H.; and Stephen Skipton, Pontiac, Ill.

OSU publishing home repairs fact sheet

Many simple plumbing and home maintenance problems could be handled by amateurs if they had the "know-how." The Oregon State University Extension Service has published two fact sheets to help provide it.

One is Fact Sheet 193, "Simple Home Maintenance." This tells how to lubricate sliding doors, noisy friction catches and locks that are hard to turn. It explains how to handle other small repair jobs like unsticking windows and drawers and silencing squeaky floors.

Included are illustrated instructions explaining how to fasten pictures or heavy objects to different kinds of walls, using molly or toggle bolts or screw anchors.

Fact Sheet 192, "Home Plumbing Problems," covers tools needed and how to do home plumbing repairs like unclogging drains and fixing leaky faucets. Just as important, it explains what causes common plumbing problems and how to prevent them.

Authors of the fact sheets are Dorothy F. Brown, OSU Extension housing-home furnishings specialist, and Wilbur W. Burkhart, area Extension agent.

Both publications are available free from county Extension offices or the Bulletin Clerk, OSU, Corvallis 97331.

Adult Basic Education classes still open

Spots are still open for new students this summer in Adult Basic Education classes throughout Lane County.

The free classes, offered by Lane Community College, emphasize reading, writing, spelling and arithmetic and are open to anyone 16 years old or older who has not completed high school.

Students can register at the first class meeting. For information about times, dates and location of classes, students can call the Adult Basic Education department at LCC.

Ladies Day at the Fairgrounds today

Today is the Ladies' Day at the Fairgrounds courtesy of Yamaha. Yamaha and local Yamaha dealers are sponsoring a "Learn-to-Ride Safety Program" for ladies only today from 10 a.m. on at the Lane County Fairgrounds and everything is free—the instruction, use of the motorcycles and even the use of the helmets.

The program is designed to teach beginning female riders the correct, safe way to ride. Trained instructors will be on hand to teach aspiring cyclists how to sit on a motorcycle, how to handle it once they're on it and how to start, steer, shift and stop it.

The program is the only national motorcycle instruction program of its kind and is currently scheduled to reach thousands of women in 110 major cities.

Ems back in town

The Emerald Baseball Club returns to Civic Stadium Wednesday night, July 18th, to open a 10-day home stand against the Salt Lake City Angels and the Albuquerque Dukes.

All single games begin at 7:45 with two double headers slated for a 6:30 starting time.

To celebrate the Ems' return to Civic Stadium, tickets two-for-the-price-of-one are available at all Bob's Hamburger locations in the Eugene-Springfield area for the July 18th series opener.

MEASURE SUBMITTED TO THE VOTERS BY THE COMMON COUNCIL AN ACT

51 AUTHORIZING $1,968,217 TAX LEVY OUTSIDE LIMITATION FOR CITY IN GENERAL

PURPOSE: Measure authorizes $1,968,217 tax beyond the Constitutional six percent limitation for the City in general operating expenses July 1, 1973 to June 30, 1974. This is an increase of $88,331 in the amount beyond the Constitutional six percent limitation levied the previous fiscal year 1972-73. If this measure is approved, the operating budget for the city in general to be financed by local taxes for the tax year 1973-74 will be $274,506 greater than the operating budget financed for the city in general by local taxes for the preceding year.
