

Speaker discusses session at meeting

"The session was very interesting, but it's important we look ahead to the interim committees and the special session," State Representative Wayne

Whitehead (R-Eugene) said in a speech Friday to the Eugene Rubicon Society.

He said previously legislators were appointed to committees with no choice in the matter, but Speaker of the House Richard Eymann (D-Springfield) has changed policy to allow each legislator to choose those committees they'd like to sit on and in which they have a particular interest or knowledge.

Interim committees work to identify problems for the special session which then attempts to solve them, Whitehead explained.

Whitehead said the most important legislation to come out of the House Labor Committee of which he was a member was new Unemployment Compensation and Workman's Compensation (Continued on Page 7)

Noted conductor featured in music workshop

Pulitzer Prize-winning composer Karel Husa, who is also a noted conductor, is the featured lecturer and conductor at a workshop for concert bands and wind ensembles this week at the University School of Music.

The workshop for high school and college conductors will include 18th and 19th century scores as well as a variety of styles in contemporary music. It will feature an intensive study of programming for the 1970s, utilizing some of the trends in programming that have been used in both London and New York City for the past two or three years.

Husa, who has been one of the leading composers in the United States for several years, will be a guest conductor at a public concert featuring one of his newest works, "Concerto for Percussion and Wind Instruments," at 8 p.m. Thursday, July 26, in the Music School Auditorium. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. University students may pick up complimentary tickets at the Music School.

Czech-born Husa, who won the 1969 Pulitzer Prize for his String Quartet No. 3, is professor of composition and director of orchestras at Cornell University. He has made numerous recordings of classical and modern music.

Other instructors and conductors for the workshop will include Robert Vagner, director of bands at the University and coordinator of the workshop, who is recognized as one of the outstanding figures in the 20th century music and its interpretive aspect; and Richard Strange of Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh. Strange is one of the leading band and orchestra conductors in the east.

Eugene woman wins Law School competition

Pamela Finley of Eugene has won the $250 first prize in the 1973 Nathan Burkan Memorial Competition at the University School of Law, Stanley Adams, president of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers announced today. The competition at the University School of Law was under the supervision of Dean Eugene Scoles, and the title of the winning essay was "Parody, Piracy, and Free Speech."

Finley received a Bachelor of Arts degree in English in 1968 from the University of California at Berkeley. She had also attended Bryn Mawr College in 1965-66.

Finley is the daughter of C.V. Lawson of Eugene and Jeanne Elliott of San Francisco.

The Nathan Burkan Memorial Competition is sponsored annually by ASCAP, America's most prestigious performing rights licensing organization, in memory of ASCAP's first General Counsel, who died in 1936. It is designed to stimulate interest in the field of copyright law. First and second prizes of $250 and $100 are offered in each of the leading law schools throughout the nation. A panel of distinguished judges then considers all the prize-winning papers which are received from participating law schools, and selects the outstanding essays for National Awards of $1500, $1000, $750, $500 and $250.

Skinner Cabin replica to be open to public

The replica of Skinner Cabin in Skinner Butte Park will be open to the public 11 a.m. - 2 p.m. Wednesdays, beginning July 25. Volunteers will be at the cabin to describe its contents and some of the history behind the settling of the area by Eugene Skinner and his family.

The replica was built in 1970 by three Oakridge men with tools of the period and donated to the city by the Lane Historical Society.

County-wide library system considered

A county-wide library system is being studied by a subcommittee of the Lane County Advisory Library Committee before being presented to the full committee at 7:30 p.m. July 31, in the Lane Council of Government offices at 135 E. Sixth Avenue.

The subcommittee of the advisory group will formulate the wording for the proposed ballot measure. The advisory committee will also be responsible for preparing factual data for voters to use in deciding whether or not to approve the county-wide system. If the wording of the measure is adopted by the full committee, the measure will be submitted to Lane County commissioners for final action.

The proposed program would include such county-wide exchange programs as library service anywhere in the county, more emphasis on reaching outlying areas such as special services and assistance for libraries in small communities, a mobile unit to provide regular service and the establishment of two new libraries in "critical, but conveniently accessible areas." Committee members have indicated they hope that the library measure can be placed on the May, 1974, primary election ballot.
