No host luncheon set for 'older' students

"Older" students of the University are invited to a no-host luncheon from 12 to 1:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 8, in the EMU. The room will be posted.

Sponsored by Life-Long Learning Services, a new office in the Division of Student Personnel Services, the meeting is intended to give students of about 25 years or older an opportunity to bring questions, gripes, and suggestions to the University and to share ideas with each other.

Some 30 mature students attended a meeting during New Student Week, and some asked at that time for another session after several weeks of classes.

Women's studies class needs participants

The Introduction to Women's Studies class, SpEd 407, needs more students. The class meets from 7:30-10 p.m. Tuesdays. For information, contact Linda Peterson at 342-8600.

EWEB to provide information service

The Eugene Water and Electric Board (EWEB) is now providing a news information service to increase its contact with the public and the news media. By telephoning 343-5225 any day at any time, you can hear a recorded news item or other information about EWEB.

The recorded information service will provide brief summaries of EWEB board actions after its meetings which are held at 7:30 p.m. on the second Monday of each month and at 12:30 p.m. on the fourth Monday.

EWEB's regular switchboard number, open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, is 343-1661.

Cheaper transportation goal of LCC co-op

Cheaper bus rides, car pools and the possibility of bike trails from Eugene and Springfield are this year's goals for the newly-formed student transportation cooperative at Lane Community College.

The co-op, an activity of the LCC Student Awareness Center, has made an agreement with the Lane Transit District to purchase 5,000 20-cent fares to resell at cost to LCC students. If the purchase is made, the funds will come from a $1,000 grant from the student senate. The standard fare for riding the city bus is 25 cents.

The co-op is planning car pools for students living in the outlying areas of Lane County and is looking into the possibility of bicycle trails to the campus from both Eugene and Springfield. More than 30 persons with automobiles have already volunteered to provide their vehicles for the car pool project.

The Student Awareness Center is a student-funded and sponsored agency that helps LCC students with housing, minority problems, child care and legal aid.

Series to explore education funding needs

The controversial issue "Private Higher Education - Who Needs It?" will be examined on National Public Radio's Inter-City program "Options" during "Special of the Week" on KOAC and KOAP-FM radio at 10 a.m. Saturday morning.

The series brings together the leaders of some of the nation's private colleges and universities to discuss the critical needs for funding if these institutions are to survive.

Evan Jenkins, education writer for the New York Times will question the participants in Washington, New York City, Madison, Wisconsin, Los Angeles, and St. Louis during the national program which will be heard in Oregon on the oepbs stations.

Correction

The Rolling Stones television appearance was incorrectly given in Thursday's "ode" as being at 1:30 p.m. Saturday on KEZI-TV. The correct time for the show is 1:30 a.m. Sunday (late Saturday night), and it will be shown on KVAL-TV Channel 13.

Psychic to speak tonight at Eugene Hotel

Psychic Jess Rogers will show techniques in thought transference at 8 tonight in the Eugene Hotel. Rogers is regional leader of the Inner Peace Movement. The meeting is open to the public.
