Family Planning Program expands services

Lane County's Family Planning Program has increased its capability to provide services and now can usually schedule patients within one week, announced Kess Hottle, director of the County's Department of Community Health and Social Services.

Patients can be seen at the new location, in the Medical Arts Building, 401 E. 10th Eugene, or in area offices located in Springfield and Cottage Grove. Services will be available in Florence in late October, Hottle said.

The new pill refill hours are 2 to 4 p.m. on Monday, Thursday, and Friday; and from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday. All patients are urged to come in during these hours, Hottle said.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 342-1311, Ext. 311.

Prison inmates to display works

A three-day cultural workshop featuring the works of Chicano and Native American inmates of the Oregon State Penitentiary is scheduled this month at Lane Community College.

The workshop is slated for Oct. 17, 18, and 19 with an art exhibit scheduled from Oct. 17-31.

Inmates participating in the workshop are members of the prison's Chicano Cultural Club and Lakota Indian Club and are being allowed to leave the penitentiary on a day-visit basis only. Special arrangements made between the LCC Chicano Student Union, which is sponsoring the event, and prison officials call for the inmates to be driven to LCC each day in state cars and then returned to Salem each evening.

Art, poetry and dances will highlight each day's activities which begin at 10 a.m. and end by 3:30 p.m. All events will take place in the main gallery of the LCC art department.

The Public is invited and admission is free.

Contact persons: Angelina Romero, President CSU, ext. 221 or ext. 385; or Harolddy Hoy, Art Department, ext. 306.

Class in candies to be taught at LCC

Hand-made candies, made mostly from European recipes originated before World War I and brought to the U.S. by Julius Franzen, will be taught this fall in a Lane Community College adult education class.

The seven-week course being at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 16 in the home economics kitchen at the college. Tuition is $10, plus $11.50 for supplies.

Students can register at the first class meeting.

City wide student council to be formed

The Eugene Council of Students (ECOS) is in the process of being formed, according to LCC student body 1st Vice President, Barry Hood.

The Council will serve as a sounding board for students of Eugene and will represent their needs as a strong local lobbying force. Membership is open to three voting members for each of Eugene's high schools. In addition, the University of Oregon, Lane Community College and Northwest Christian College are invited to participate. "Students need a voice and a way to express their views to the community; in short, they need a sounding board. I believe that this is just the break they need," Hood said.

The first orientation meeting of ECOS will be in two weeks, time and date to be announced. For additional information, contact the LCC student government offices, 747-4501, ext. 220, 221.
