ON CAMPUS

'Groove Merchants' set campus concert

The Groove Merchants, formerly Abba Zabba, will play tonight from 7-10 p.m. in 138 Commonwealth, free. The show is presented by History of New Music SEARCH class.

Outdoor Program swap set tonight

The Outdoor Program will sponsor an outdoor equipment swap tonight from 7-9 p.m. in the EMU.

"These swaps have been immensely successful in the past. If you have wanted to get involved in outdoor activities but not been able to afford the equipment—particularly winter camping, or cross-country ski equipment—the swap provides a great opportunity to buy, or trade equipment at reasonable prices," said Bruce Mason, Outdoor Program assistant coordinator.

Forum on rape slated tonight

Dist. Atty. Pat Horton is set to moderate the second in a series of public forums sponsored by his office today at the Dad's Room in the EMU.

Subject of the 7:30 p.m. panel will be "Rape." Appearing with Horton will be Janie Burcart, a graduate student and member of the University Feminists, Wayne Allen, Eugene Defense Attorney with the firm Biggs and Allen, and a representative of the Eugene Police Department. The forum will center on questions from the audience, after brief opening remarks from each of the guests.

Gay sex forum tonight

Eugene Gay People's Alliance will sponsor a "Gay Sex Forum" tonight at 7:30 p.m. in 150 Science.

"What straight people are most uptight about is the gay sexual act," said gay activist Randy Shilts. "We'll have two films that show a cross-section in the lives of a lesbian and gay male couple. They show them in the kitchen, the dining room, and bed. From a human perspective it's no big deal, but in terms of this society, the films should provide a truly educational experience. They will be followed by discussion panel of faculty members and gay people."

No admission will be charged for the event.

Musicians, dancers to present 'Orpheus'

A fall term concert, featuring a concert version of the opera "Orpheus" will be presented Wednesday in the Recital Hall in the School of Music.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. and includes dancers from the University dance department, the 85-member University Chorale, the University Brass Choir and the University Orchestra. Admission is free.

OSPIRG election meeting today

A meeting for all candidates in the upcoming election for OSPIRG posts will be held at 5 p.m. today, not 4:30, as was reported in Tuesday's Emerald. The meeting will follow the deadline for filing. The election is only for OSPIRG positions, not for Incidental Fee Committee.

Sierra Club, University sponsor work session

The Eugene Sierra Club and the University of Oregon Survival Center are sponsoring a public work session on land use planning tonight from 7 to 10 p.m. People may come and go as they like between those hours to Room 108 in the EMU.

To help in the expression of ideas and issues, simple but comprehensive response forms will be available. These forms will make your concerns easy to express and useful to the Forest Service. People who have already started these forms and need aid in finishing them are welcome at tonight's session.
