

Greek paper censored

ATHENS (UPI) — A major Greek newspaper, which carried an editorial mildly critical of the new military-backed regime, was closed down Sunday despite repeated government assurances that censorship had been lifted.

Newspaper sources said Athens' conservatively-oriented afternoon Daily Vrachyni was padlocked about midnight Saturday by men in civilian clothes, accompanied by four locksmiths.

The men said they were acting on orders of "The Chief" but failed to identify him and gave no reason for the lockup. The final editions of the newspaper carried a front-page editorial mildly critical of the new regime's first policy statement.

Since ousting Papadopoulos Nov. 25, regime officials said "censorship has been abolished throughout the country." But the military officers twice have summoned publishers to inform them what was expected.

Since the last publishers' meeting Thursday, Greek newspapers have carried no domestic economic or political stories except those repeating official announcements.

The newspapers, which strongly attacked Papadopoulos in the days immediately after the coup, also dropped nearly all reference to the fallen leader, except when clearly attributing the report to foreign news sources.

Nixon to propose health insurance plan

WASHINGTON—President Nixon will propose a mandatory national health insurance system in his State of the Union message in January, administration officials said Sunday. The program would cover doctor bills, hospital costs, prescription drugs, family planning services, dental care for children up to 13-year-old and a wide variety of other services.

Fighting continues in Golan Heights

GOLAN HEIGHTS—Israeli and Syrian tanks and artillery duelled for more than four hours along the Golan Heights Sunday in the heaviest outbreak of fighting on the northern front since the 39-day-old cease-fire went into effect. Shooting also was reported on the Lebanese border. On the diplomatic front, Egyptian officials in Cairo said another peace mission by U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger was "under discussion." They said the aim of such a visit would be to break the Egyptian-Israeli deadlock on troop withdrawals and save the proposed Middle East conference in mid-December. Kissinger came to the Middle East in early November and mapped out the six-point cease-fire accord, which Egypt and Israel signed Nov. 11. The troop disengagement provision is the only point that remains unimplemented.

South Korea shuffles cabinet

SEOUL — South Korean President Park Chung-hee replaced 10 cabinet ministers and the director of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency Monday in a sweeping reshuffle of his government. Park kept Premier Kim Jong-pil and nine other cabinet members in their posts when he announced the shakeup about an hour after all ministers sent in their resignations. Culture and Information Minister Yun Ju-young said Kim and the cabinet, of which he is the head, held an emergency session this morning and decided to resign. The cabinet submitted its resignation later to Park. "The cabinet has decided to resign en masse to take the responsibility for a series of incidents which occurred in the country recently," Yun said.

Oil companies to face antitrust actions

NEW YORK—State Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz announced Sunday anti-trust proceedings have been filed against seven oil companies which allegedly engaged in an "illegal understanding and arrangement" to eliminate price competition in the New York area. Named as defendants in the New York Supreme Court suit were Shell Oil Co., Exxon Corp., Gulf Oil Corp., Sun Oil Co., American Oil Co., Texaco, Inc., and Mobil Oil Corp. Lefkowitz said the complaint charges the firms refrained from competing amongst themselves in areas where there was no competition from independent companies and granted rebates to some of their dealers but not all, while maintaining high "official" wholesale prices.

Puerto Ricans march for independence

SAN JUAN, P.R.—An estimated 15,000 supporters of Puerto Rico's independence from the United States marched through San Juan's tourist sector Sunday to protest the arrival here of mayors, city councilmen and other U.S. city officials for a four-day convention. The demonstration, which appeared more like a U.S. pre-Christmas parade, apparently was seen by few of the 6,000 expected delegates to the National League of Cities' annual Congress of Cities.
