

In a bind? Lane agencies can probably help out?

You think you need immunization against the whooping cough? You have to go to Circuit Court on that "stupid" speeding ticket? Or do you want to take a shot at getting some food stamps?

Lane County government agencies—spread all over the city—can help you out in each of these situations and a lot of others.

Most of the services are in the county courthouse, 125 E. 8th Ave.

If you've got a child who needs vaccinations, the Community Health and Social Services on the second floor of the courthouse can take care of it. From 8 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 4:30 p.m. Wednesdays, a child can be immunized for diphtheria-whooping cough-tetanus; measles, rubella, polio (oral and influenza).

If you're traveling overseas, you'll need shots and the health services has them 8 to 11:30 each morning for typhoid, small pox, typhus, plague and cholera.

If you goofed and you think you have venereal disease, you can get yourself fixed up by going into the health services department at 12:40 Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Persons are treated on confidential first-come, first-served basis.

The courthouse also houses a record of all land deeds in the county, in case you want to find out who owns that big house across the street. You can also file suit against someone, get a marriage license or go complain to one of three county commissioners—Nancy Hayward, Bob Wood or Frank Elliott.

And if you've hit a streak of bad luck and the stomach is making weird noises, you can apply for food stamps at 2660 Roosevelt Blvd., at the west end of Eugene on Highway 99. To find out if you're eligible, call 687-4241.

The county also has departments that can handle environmental complaints, veterans' affairs, election and voter registration matters and property taxes.

And, if you just can't find what you're looking for, dial 687-4011 and ask for help.
