

Choirs present concert

The University Chamber Choir and the University Singers will present their first concert this season Sunday at 8 p.m., in Beall Concert Hall.

The Chamber Choir will perform the "Missa quinis vocibus super Dolorosi martyr" by Czech composer Krystof Harant.

The University Singers will perform works by Heinrich Schutz, Charles Theodore Pachelbel, Felix Mendelssohn, Louis Davis, E. Rautavaara, Johann N. David and one traditional gospel work.

The Program also will feature varied instrumentation ranging from continuo to electronic tape.

The concert is open to the public free of charge.

Emerald errs; PDC meets today, AD pass exchange until Thursday

Errors appeared in Wednesday's Emerald regarding the time period for the exchange of season athletic passes and the date of the ASUO Programs' Directors Council (PDC). The required athletic exchange is scheduled to run through Thursday, Nov. 20, at 5 p.m. The PDC meeting will be held in the EMU Forum room at 4:30 today.

The Emerald regrets the errors.

Harris to give radio broadcast

Fred Harris begins his New Hampshire Primary campaign tonight with a nationwide broadcast. Harris, a populist Democrat, will present his ideas and appeal for funds. While Harris is speaking, several area Democrats will be having friends in to hear and to discuss what Harris has to say.

The theme of the Harris campaign is redistribution of corporate wealth and power.

The speech will be carried by KZEL-FM 96.1 at 7:30 p.m.

Courtyard blaze set for demonstration

About five gallons of gas will be set ablaze and extinguished at noon today in the lower courtyard of the EMU. The demonstration is sponsored by the University's safety program and is intended to show students how to use fire extinguishers to deal with home fires. The demonstration will be repeated on Friday.

ASUO budget meeting today

A Program Directors Council meeting, designed to give ASUO-funded programs input into the Executive budget criteria process, will be held today at 4:30 in the Forum Room, EMU.

The meeting, initiated by Jim Davis, ASUO vice-president, will also provide the opportunity for discussion of the proposed budget — counter budget process and time table.

Company pulls product

Johnson Wax Company has announced it will curtail unsolicited mass mailings of their product "Shout" following a number of consumer complaints and a request from the Oregon Student Public Interest Research Group (OSPIRG).

"Shout" contains tetrachloroethylene and petroleum distillates, which are harmful to the eyes and lungs. The product samples were mailed in easily opened boxes; consumers were worried that children might harm themselves by ingesting the product.

John S. Ullman, OSPIRG staff scientist, pointed out that "the box and can state that the product should be kept from children. Unfortunately the age group of children who could be most easily harmed by "Shout" can't read the warning."

OSPIRG investigated the legality of sending hazardous products like "Shout" through the mail and found that the post office does not have the authority to prohibit mailing of such products.

Sen. Mark Hatfield has asked the Senate Committee on the Post Office and Civil Service to examine the possibility of remedial legislation designed to keep unsolicited samples of hazardous products from the mails.

Spanish historian to speak on prospects for change in Spain

The EMU Cultural Forum will present noted Spanish historian, Gabriel Jackson Friday at 12:30 p.m. in Rm. 167 EMU. He will speak about the "Prospects For Change In Spain."

Jackson is currently a history professor at the University of California, San Diego. He graduated from both Harvard and Stanford Universities and was the recipient of a Fulbright Post-doctoral Fellowship for study in Spain from 1961-62.

He has written five books dealing with Spanish history, two of which dealt specifically with the Spanish Civil War and Francisco Franco's rise to power. The public is welcome and no admission will be charged.
