All efforts have been extended to produce a valuable and enjoyable game. The distributor does not assume responsibility for the enclosed offers. The responsibility lies in the good faith of the individual merchants listed herein. Their reputations, we think, are of the highest caliber. While purchases are not specifically required when redeeming many of the cards, it is hoped that players will consider the high costs involved with free giveaways and assist the merchants with additional purchases. Without the combined efforts and generosity of the participating companies, this sampling program would not be possible. Thank You
