

Says Frerichs

Thumbs down on UO upsets

Oregon will come up empty-handed in its quest for upsets over UCLA and USC Thursday and Saturday, according to the prognostications of Glen Frerichs.

The Ducks should drop a ten-point decision to UCLA tomorrow night, he says. USC, meanwhile, is a one-point favorite over the Kamikaze Kids, who dropped two-point and one-point decisions to the Trojans last year.

In other Pac-8 action, Oregon State is favored by a point over USC Thursday night but rates an eight-point underdog to UCLA.

Washington, which jumped to eighth in this week's AP rankings, should extend its win string to 13 games with victories over California and Stanford.

Frerich's ratings are based on scores of previous games with an adjustment for the difficulty of the opposition. Game predictions are obtained by taking the difference between the ratings of the teams and then adding on the home-team advantage of 3.46 points.

UCLA after third straight Duck pluck

UW shoots to eighth; Bruins 4th

(AP) — Indiana, despite a couple of narrow victories last week, strengthened its hold on the top spot, while two teams—Wake Forest and Washington—made their debuts in the Top Ten in the Associated Press major college basketball poll released Tuesday.

Washington, 11-0, rocketed from 13th last week to eighth with victories over Northwestern and Texas Tech and a 106-75 romp over Seattle last week.

UCLA, Oregon's Thursday night opponent, clobbered Notre Dame 86-70 Saturday for its 91st consecutive victor at Pauley Pavilion and moved from fourth to third, displacing North Carolina. Southern Cal, the Ducks' Saturday night opponent, notched the No. 18 spot.

Wrestlers face Cowboys tonight

Duo Leads UO to First Triumph

FAIRBANKS, Ala.—After two season-opening losses, the Oregon women's basketball team notched its first victory Monday night with a 60-53 triumph over Alaska-Fairbanks.

Margaret Bonn scored 18 points and Sally McInturff added 17 points as the Ducks equaled half the number of games they won last year.
