

Ducks win big – would you believe 46-0?

Stanford wrestling Coach Joe DeMeo has said his team could be one of the school's best ever.

Somehow the Cards didn't seem to impress Oregon Thursday night at McArthur Court as the Ducks pasted the Cards 46-0.

The Ducks recorded three pins, two super-superior decisions and three superior decisions in the slaughter.

Oregon Coach Ron Finley viewed the win philosophically.

The coach left a message on the blackboard in the dressing room before the meet which read: "Tonight we wrestle a team...you wrestle an opponent...your goal as always is to wrestle a perfect match. Score everytime you get a chance and don't give away any points."

"That's our goal," said Finley, "Everytime out we have the same goal...trying to wrestle the perfect match."

"Tonight we did a better job of wrestling eight minutes, and a better job of looking for the fall on takedowns."

Most people were expecting Stanford to score at least in a couple of matches, one being the 177-pound match in which sophomore Tim Strobel was filling in for the injured Buck Davis.

Strobel dominated Stanford's Joe Coelho from the beginning, routing him 24-2.

"Tim did really well," said Finley, "He gave us all he could."

Randy Robinson, Randy Besaw and Greg Gibson gained pins for the Ducks.

Besaw was complimented by Finley for "putting pressure on his opponent from the start."

Gibson capped-off the evening with a pin at 6:23 in his heavyweight bout with Stanford's Gary Anderson.

Like Oregon's nine other wrestlers, Kevin Kramer, at 158, had little trouble with his Stanford foe, grinding out a 7-1 win.
