strated to have been necessary," although, he said, "I was not consulted about calling in police at any particular time."

After the inauguration ceremony was over, ASUO Pres. Jim Bernau attempted to arrange a meeting between the demonstrators and Boyd. Although Boyd agreed to meet the demonstrators, the proposed meeting was called off when Boyd refused to promise amnesty for those arrested.

The demonstrators then moved to the Art Museum, where a reception for Boyd was being held. They were blocked from entering, however, by police who were asking for invitations to the event.

Bogen said he had not determined whether invitations had actually been issued to the event and assumed that asking for them was a police tactic to bar disruptions in the museum.

Bernau said the ASUO will investigate Saturday's incidents to determine whether any action in support of the demonstrators should be taken.

He said he "abhorred" their methods of addressing problems he said the ASUO was already working on, and said he believes they "damaged" what the student government is attempting.

He pledged ASUO legal or other aid to students who were arrested if his investigation turns up wrongdoing by the police.

The people arrested who were listed as students fall term (winter term registration lists are not yet complete) are: Peggy Jo Brammer, 23, Rebecca Anne Vance, 24, and William Lutz, 23.

Others arrested were: Daniel Blair Greenstein, 23, Sarah Francis Maltzman, 24, William Sherman Doolittle, 25, Alan Ray Riddle, 22, and Jean Ellen Woodruff, 22.

Woodruff was charged with interfering with a police officer, the rest with disorderly conduct. All posted $55 bail and were released. Their arraignment was to be held this morning.

Two juveniles, whose names were not released, were detained at Skipworth Juvenile Home.

Palestine awareness week begins

A week of community and university activities to inform and to discuss the situation of the Palestinian people begins today and ends Saturday. Highlights of the program include: Tuesday night, Abdeen Jabbara, a Lebanese author, attorney and well-known speaker on the Middle East will speak at 7:30 p.m. in the EMU Ballroom. A community teach-in will be held Thursday night at 7 at Lincoln School. Dr. Katul, a local physician and native Palestinian and Paul Zinsel, a Jew who lived in Nazi Germany and in Israel, will be speaking. On Saturday evening there will be a Palestinian dinner and cultural evening. Films will be shown throughout the week. All events except the dinner are free of charge. For more information call 342-4575 or 343-3282.

Ensemble sets concert

"Les Chanteuses" women's ensemble from California Baptist College, Riverside, presents a concert, Tuesday night at 7:30, at the University Park Baptist Church, 2520 Harris St. The program will be patriotic, in keeping with the Bicentennial theme, along with sacred numbers and spirituals.

The ensemble is directed by Helen Walker, associate professor of music, who has directed similar groups for 19 years at the Riverside institution. Twelve voices in the group are accompanied by Jayne McClung, pianist, and Gary Kaufman, guitarist.

The ensemble is on a two week's tour of northern California, Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. Their appearance in Eugene is sponsored jointly by Southern Baptist churches. Members will be guests in homes of local Southern Baptists during their stay in Eugene.

Writing topic on PL-3

"Why Johnny Can't Write" will be the subject for a half-hour television "Feedback" at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday on the Oregon Educational Public Broadcasting System.

Originating live from the University, the program will feature host Vern Mueller and guests Nat Teich, University director of composition, and Ray Scofield, a teacher at Roosevelt Junior High, Eugene.

The program offers the opportunity for viewers to telephone their questions and concerns directly to guest panelists.

"Feedback" is a weekly OEPBS series. It's broadcast on PL-3, Eugene, KOAP-TV, Portland and KOAC-TV, Corvallis.
