

Lost passes instigate Campus Security alert

Campus Security has a list of lost and stolen athletic passes. "These are the ones we'll be looking for at the games," says Sgt. Larry Spencer, of the Eugene police department.

Spencer points out that failure to return a lost pass is a crime. When buying passes people should check the number on the pass against those listed below. If an individual has one of these passes, he should turn it in to the athletic department or campus security, says Spencer.

The following passes are known to be lost or stolen: 20316, 20343, 20414, 20442, 20478, 20604, 20663, 20812, 21002, 21014, 21046, 21119, 21194, 21277, 22258, 22515, 22756, 22879, 22981, 23039, 23107, 23189, 23230, 23272, 23360, 23790, 23863, 23955, 23997, 24003.

Victim seeks witness

Leslie Perry is desperate.

On Dec. 22, 1975, Leslie was riding her bicycle on Ferry Street, and was hit by a station wagon traveling on 15th Avenue. She sustained a fractured shoulder and was aided by an unidentified male, who was driving by with a friend and stopped to help.

Leslie's problem?

The doctor bills for her shoulder are piling up, and without the man who assisted her as a witness, she will have to pay them herself. With his help, she will be able to collect on the station wagon owner's insurance.

Are you that man?

If so, Leslie would very much like to hear from you at 344-0332, or at 686-4948 at the University's psychology labs in the afternoons.

Backlog delays dog licenses

Several thousand Lane County dog owners have not received their 1976 dog tags from the County because of a backlog in processing renewal applications.

Dog owners who have sent in their fees and rabies certifications but have not received a license in return, need not worry about being in violation of the license law.

Animal control officers have been instructed to check by radio before impounding any dog on an expired license. Clerks will search the files to see if the 1976 license is valid, but simply has not been sent to the dog owner.

Dog owners who have not mailed their 1976 license fees are subject to enforcement provisions of the new county ordinance.

The Animal Control Division in Room 20 of the Courthouse is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays to issue 1976 licenses and answer questions about the licensing program.

Chicano art opens Monday

The Eugene Friends of the Farm Workers are sponsoring an exhibit of Chicano art Jan. 26-30 in the Lawrence Gallery on campus.

Co-sponsors for the exhibit are MEChA, the Asian-American Student Union, the Third World Student Coalition, and Cultural Forum.

The exhibit is part of a Farm Worker Solidarity Days celebration planned for this week.

Danny Desiga, head of the art department at Colegio Cesar Chavez in Mt. Angel, and his students will be showing paintings, photographs, and posters about the lives of Chicanos and farm workers. Carlos Mannriquez from Eugene and several Woodburn area artists will also be exhibiting their work.

A reception with the artists is scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday night. Mr. Desiga will be giving a videotape and slide presentation of work he has done in Washington and California.

The gallery is located in 141 Lawrence Hall on the northwest corner of the Lawrence courtyard. Exhibit hours are 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. the rest of the week. For more information contact: Kurt Willcox 345-0709.

KWAX-FM to present series

KWAX-FM Radio is broadcasting two half-hour feature series this term to be presented every Monday and Friday morning on "Talk of the Town." Monday's program is "Lifestyles for a Better World" in a series focusing on new and alternative lifestyles in the Eugene community.

Subjects to be covered include natural foods, women's health, biking, meditation, spiritual groups, free schools, music, birth control, backpacking, massage, drug information, food stores, co-ops, plant care, neighborhood groups, community gardens, legal aid, natural childbirth, Tai Chi Chuan, yoga, self-help organizations, arts and crafts, animal services and pyramid power.

The second program presented on Friday mornings during "Talk of the Town" is "The Energy Crisis." This series deals with solar, nuclear, geothermal, tidal, solar, hydroelectric, solar sea-power, wind, magnohydrodynamic, wind and fossil fuel powers, and energy conservation.

Anna Fang, junior at the University is the commentator for both of the series.

Speakers win over weekend

University speakers fared well over the weekend in a variety of events at two speech tournaments.

In a meet at Seattle Pacific College, speaking on mainly Bicentennial topics, Roberta Eggleston placed second in both persuasive and impromptu, while the team of Don Reed and Doug Anderson took second in cross-examination debate.

Meanwhile, at Long Beach State, Ed and Sally Colson placed third, and Rico Maloney and Shaun McRea were rated fifth in the debate tournament.

Parents' talks start Tuesday

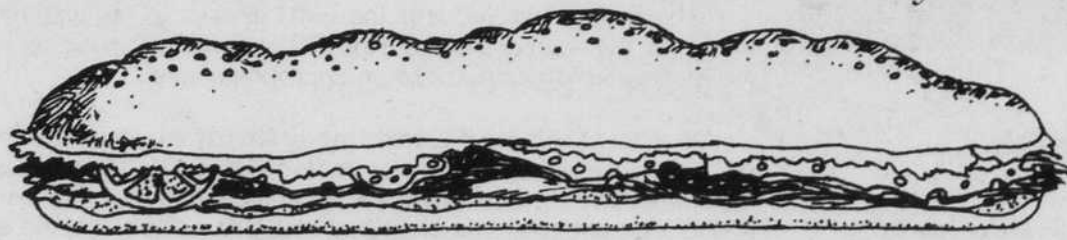

Family Counseling Services is presenting a seven-week series for parents entitled "Enjoying Your Child." The first session will be held Tuesday from 7 to 10:30 at Central Presbyterian Church, 15th and Ferry in Eugene. The first evening will be called "Coping with Parental Guilt" and will be led by guest seminar leader George Pransky, whose ideas have inspired much of the material for the series.

The next six sessions will be led by Tom Maddron and Monette Thatcher of Family Counseling's staff. They will be held Wednesday evenings from 7 to 10:30 at Central Presbyterian Church. The titles include, "The Importance of Self-Worth," "Being Straight with Your Child," "Values and Standards," "Family Systems," "Listening and Being Listened to," and "Digging Your Life." The series is designed to release the parents' own creative energy and insight rather than to teach them how to raise their children. The series is free of charge and all parents are invited.
