

Blood Mobile on campus

Alpha Phi Omega service club will sponsor the appearance of the Lane Memorial Blood Bank Bloodmobile on campus on Thursdays, now through the beginning of finals week.

The bloodmobile will be parked on 13th Avenue, adjacent to the Post Office in the EMU.

Persons may donate blood on the following Thursdays from 1 to 4 p.m., Feb. 26, March 11 and 18. On March 4, the bloodmobile will be open from approximately 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Scott Mayeda, coordinator of the project, says the club is sponsoring the bloodmobile weekly on campus because the blood bank has a "real problem in meeting fresh blood supplies on a weekly basis."

Donors should report to Room

101 EMU to fill out forms before reporting to the bloodmobile.

Tax court to hear here

The Oregon Tax Court will hold a hearing at the University of Oregon Law School on Friday (Feb. 27).

The session will begin at 9:30 a.m., in the law school moot courtroom, Room 221.

The purpose of scheduling the court's hearing at the law school is to give UO law students an opportunity to watch the tax court in action. The students were able to observe the Oregon Court of Appeals Friday (Feb. 20) at the school.

"Valley River Center et. al. v. Dept. of Revenue" is the case to be heard. The tax court will sit as a trial court for this appeal by Valley River Center which is contesting the assessed value of the Valley River Inn for 1974-75 property tax assessment.

Workers hold workshop

A one day workshop on "crisis interviewing" will be held on campus Friday in the EMU from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., room to be posted.

The workshop is sponsored by the University's Social Work Interest Group and the National Association of Social Workers. Topics to be covered include defining communication, interviewing, and effective use of language.

The featured speaker will be Betsie Debeer-Smith, who has extensive experience in social work and social work education.

Designed for people who deal with "crises in the community," the workshop is open to the public. Registration costs are $2 for students, $3 for the general public.

Art exhibition hosts students

A centennial Art Exhibition featuring about 50 student artists will be sponsored by the Student University Affairs Board (SUAB) Feb. 27-28 and March 11-12.

The exhibition, according to SUAB member Jenny Harada, will be held in 167 EMU from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. each day and is free to the public.

Among the different areas of art which will be represented are painting, drawing, printing and sculpture. Some of the works will be on sale.

"I felt like there was lots of talent hidden in the art building and I wanted to bring the students' work out," Harada said. She added she is attempting to bring the University's centennial celebration "closer to the students."

Harada said that there was still time for any other artists to enter their work in the March 11-12 exhibition, but she asked that all work be entered soon so she can get the artists' names and entries on the program.

McKinley show today in Erb

"New Mountaineering Ethics on Mt. McKinley" will be the subject of a free public slide presentation today at 7:30 p.m. in the Erb Memorial Union Ballroom.

The program will focus on the 1975 Denali (Mt. McKinley) rehabilitation expedition and efforts for the future.

In addition to the slide show, members of the 1975 expedition, which was coordinated by the EMU Outdoor Program, will be present to discuss this summer's project. The group plans to recruit volunteers to spend the summer on Mt. McKinley's Kahiltna Glacier. The group will study the environment, survey attitudes of climbers and look at possible alternative use patterns.

More information may be obtained by contacting Bill Coyle at the Outdoor Program, Room 23 EMU, phone 686-4365 or 686-3730.

German club sponsors fete

Ever been to a Mardi Gras ball? The German Club is planning one for tomorrow night and everyone is invited. The club will demonstrate how Germans celebrate Fasching—their equivalent of Mardi Gras. Costumes are encouraged but not required. There will be dancing, refreshments and prizes for the best costume. The celebration begins at 9 p.m. and takes place in Theta Chi Fraternity on 19th and Potter Streets. Admission: $1.

Bonneville now self run

PORTLAND (AP) — The Bonneville Power Administration now is self-financing and no longer depends on congressional appropriations, the BPA says.

Administrator Don Hodel says he expects sale of electricity to finance all operations this budget year. After that, he said, the agency will probably be financed by sale of short term notes.

The "briefs" section is for campus and community announcements. No brief will be published that charges an admission or donation fee. However, classes that charge tuition or dinner events that offer a free program even to those who do not buy a dinner will be accepted.

All briefs must be typed, triple-spaced in a 65-unit margin. Handwritten briefs will be given low priority. Briefs will be published one time only in any seven-day period, as space permits.

MEETINGS

The Psi Center is sponsoring a tour of two coastal vortex areas this Saturday; rides will depart Friday evening or very early Saturday. Sign-up sheet for rides and riders is in the SEARCH office. A meeting will begin at 7 tonight in the Suite 1 conference room, EMU, to coordinate the ride pool and to give an introduction to mass-energy-warp phenomena and how to measure and photograph them. All students interested in the Cape Blanco area exploration and in vortex field theory should attend the orientation meeting.

FILMS

The "Incredible Bread Machine," a movie depicting the tyrannical nature of the U.S. federal government in relation to innocent individuals will be shown today at 7 p.m. in the EMU, free of charge. The movie is an adaptation of the book (of the same name) written by six students.

The following instructional rental films have arrived early. Faculty may schedule them for classes with the audiovisual media center before 2:30 p.m. the day before they are needed. Students or faculty may request showings on a first-served basis Monday through Friday between 6 and 10 in the evening. Films are not available after the showdate listed below.
