

Marine Corps to give trial

The U.S. Marine Corps Officer Selection Team will present a mock court martial Tuesday from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Law School court room.

The purpose of the presentation will be to allow students the opportunity to witness a representative trial that a Marine Staff Judge Advocate would be involved in.

IFC considers budget requests

The annual Incidental Fee Committee (IFC) budget deliberations will get underway at 5:30 p.m. today with five programs slated on the agenda. Docketed for tonight's meeting are (in order of scheduled appearance: the Asian American Student Union,

MEChA, Action Now, PACE and Beta Alpha Psi. Location will be posted in the EMU.

Under the scheduled deliberation process, each program will be allowed 15 minutes to present its request and rationale, according to Jamie Burns, IFC chair. The committee will then deliberate and deliver its decision on the budget allocation for the program for 1976-77.

The IFC will hear requests from approximately 60 programs and contractors during the budgeting process scheduled to run nightly for the next three weeks.

School offers Israel program

The State University College at Oneonta, (SUCO), New York, is offering its tenth academic program in Israel in July and August of this year.

The six-week overseas program is limited to teachers, undergraduate and graduate students who can meet the entrance requirements of the State University of New York.

"Modern Israel" is for students who desire an intensive study of Israel's economic, social, political, religious, educational and scientific institutions, according to SUCO officials. Six semester hours of credit can be earned by students completing the academic work satisfactorily.

Dr. Yonah Alexander, professor of International and Foreign Area Studies at SUCO, will be the director of the program for the tenth consecutive summer. Persons wishing further information may write Alexander at State University College, Oneonta, N.Y., 13820, or the Department of Education and Culture of the Jewish Agency, 515 Park Ave., New York, N.Y., 10022.

County officials hold workshop

More than one hundred Lane County elected and appointed officials are expected to participate in a one-day workshop on federal legislation for community service programs today at the University.

The workshop is co-sponsored by the School of Community Service and Public Affairs and the Seattle Federal Regional Council.

Scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. in 167 EMU, the all-day workshop will feature presentations by federal officials on legislation dealing with the Comprehensive Employment Training Act, Title XX of the Social Security Act, Housing and Community Development Act, Health Planning and Resources Development Act and the Administration on Aging.

The program also will include discussions by local officials on human delivery service systems.

Artists display work on mall

A showcase of Oregon art and artists will be presented in Eugene April 9 through 12 during "Festival on the Mall."

Co-sponsored by the University Festival of Arts Committee and the Eugene Downtown Association, visitors will have a chance to see dancers, musicians, painters, crafts, and many more activities from all over the state of Oregon. All events are free and will take place on the Eugene Downtown Mall and in surrounding buildings.

Some of the participants scheduled so far include poets, dancers, an opera workshop, a children's choir, jugglers, a bagpipe band, high school bands, a woodwind quintet, a string quartet, the Earley Musick Players, painters, mime and puppeteers.

Center teaches speed reading

Area residents are invited to enroll in a spring term speed reading class at the University. Open to University faculty, students and the general public, the class will begin today.

The six-week course will focus on improving reading rate, comprehension, retention and recall. No machines are used in class instruction, but reading machines will be available for individual use.

Offered by the Learning Resources Center, the class for area residents will meet from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays in 265 Condon Hall. A faculty class will be held Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in the same location.

Class sections for University students are being scheduled on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 9:30, 10:30 and 11:30 a.m., on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 9 and 10:20 a.m. and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Registration fee for non-University persons is $25. University faculty, staff and students may enroll for $10. For registration, interested persons may contact the Learning Resource Center, 686-3226, weekdays between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Art museum exhibits photos

Portland attorney Gerald Robinson's black and white photographs will be featured in an exhibit opening Tuesday at the Photography at Oregon Gallery in the art museum.

Robinson's photographs have been displayed throughout Oregon. His articles on photography have appeared in Aperature, Popular Photography, Camera and the Time-Life book series on photography.

He taught evening photography classes at the Museum Art School in Portland from 1962 to 1965 and was a lecturer at the University summer photography workshops in 1967 and 1968.

Robinson, a practicing attorney since 1952, holds degrees from Reed College and Columbia University. He was a member of the Fine Arts Advisory Board for the Oregon Centennial and co-chairman of the photography sub-committee.

The Robinson exhibit closes May 2. The Museum of Art is free and open to the public from noon to 5 p.m., Tuesdays through Sundays.
