

New York, Wisconsin primaries

be a three-man race again, with Carter, Jackson and Udall due to square off next in Pennsylvania on April 27.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota could be a beneficiary of the Tuesday primary verdicts. Anything that tends to open the race and divide delegate support could provide running room later for the 1968 nominee, who has said he may become a candidate after the primaries are over.

Furthermore, at least 48 nominally uncommitted delegate candidates in New York had said they would support Humphrey at the convention. At least a dozen of them had won convention seats, and the figure is likely to be higher when all the votes are counted.

These were Tuesday's numbers:

Wisconsin

Seventy per cent of the precincts had been counted, and in the Democratic race it was:

- Udall 213,952 or 37 per cent.
- Carter 206,960 or 36 per cent.
- Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace 70,427 or 12 per cent.

- Jackson 38,583 or 7 per cent.
- On the Republican side, also with 70 per cent of the precincts tallied:
- Ford 255,019 or 55 per cent.
 - Reagan 201,954 or 44 per cent.
- The other one per cent of the vote went to the no preference line.
- Since Ford led statewide and in all nine congressional districts, he was ahead for all 45 GOP delegates.

New York

With 82 per cent of the precincts counted, Jackson-pledged delegate candidates led for 102 national convention seats, Udall for 68, uncommitted entries for 64, Carter for 40.

Republicans gave the lead to 114 uncommitted delegates, with three Reagan supporters leading. Only a dozen Reagan delegates ran.

In Washington, a Ford spokesman said the President was pleased with a Wisconsin victory that exceeded his expectations. It was Ford's sixth primary victory, against one Reagan win.
