

Sophomores,

Last summer I attended a six-week training program in Military Science at Fort Knox, Kentucky. While there I received a two-year Army ROTC scholarship which pays my full tuition, all books and fees and gives me $100 each academic month of the year.

If this opportunity sounds interesting to you,

Banks to speak here tomorrow

Dennis Banks, leader of the American Indian Movement, will speak tomorrow in an appearance sponsored by the EMU Cultural Forum and the Native American Student Union. He will be speaking in the EMU Ballroom at 12:30 p.m.

Banks has been tried on federal charges in the past in connection with rebellions at the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota and is currently facing other criminal charges. His talk will focus primarily on his past experiences.

Admission to the event is free and open to the public.

Fear of water may be cured

Sheldon Pool is offering a program to help adults overcome their fear of deep water. The program for aquaphobic people involves systematic desensitization and involves a step-by-step approach to relaxation training.

The class is offered free of charge at times arranged between the instructor and the student.

For more information phone the instructor Sean Egan at 343-6665 (Monday, Wednesday or Friday after 6 p.m.) or 343-3314 (Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays).

German photos open on display

A unique photographic exhibit portraying the designs that emanated from the Bauhaus in Germany from 1919 to 1933 is now on display in 226 Friendly from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Sponsored by the German and Russian departments, the exhibit features some 125 photographs of the works of Bauhaus masters and Bauhaus workshops.

The display is through the courtesy of Goethe House of New York and was compiled in consultation with Mrs. Ise Gropius, widow of the late Walter Gropius.

On Monday, April 5, the Dormitory Governance Council passed a motion calling on the director of housing to allow students over 21 to possess alcohol in over-21 dorms.

The council anticipates that the measure will not be approved easily, and we are planning to lobby before the faculty for the same change if the present request is denied by Barnhart and the administration.

All students interested in joining the alcohol lobby are encouraged to leave their names with the receptionist in the Information Booth in Suite 4, EMU.

Congressman James Weaver will hold a town meeting today at the University to discuss current issues in Congress, with an emphasis on environmental and economic problems.

Weaver will speak at 12:30 p.m. in Room 121 of the University Law School. He is a candidate in the May primary to retain his current position as Democratic Representative from District Four in Oregon.

The event is sponsored by the Student Bar Association.

There will be a Women's Studies Student Union meeting today, 6:30 p.m., at 735 E. 23rd (corner of Hilyard). All women are invited to attend. Anyone with problems on transportation or time should call Karen at 345-6641 or the Women's Center on campus, 686-5015.

The University Club Sports Karate Club meets Mondays and Wednesdays from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at 1917 Franklin Blvd.

Be sure and attend the Collegiate Invitational Karate Tournament sponsored by the University Club Sports Karate Club Saturday, 8 p.m. at Mac Court. There will also be demonstrations of the four martial arts of judo, aikido, kendo, karate. Be sure to attend.

Derek Shearer, economic advisor to Tom Hayden's senatorial campaign in California, co-director of the California Public Policy Center and recently special consultant to Gov. Jerry Brown's director of Employment Development, will be speaking at a public meeting today at 8 p.m. in the Eugene City Hall Chambers.

On the program with Shearer will be District Four Congressman Jim Weaver and Denny Scott of the International Woodworkers of America.

The meeting, which is free and open to the public, is sponsored by the Lane County Labor Council, with funds provided by the Oregon Committee for the Humanities, an affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

MISCELLANEOUS

The University YWCA is offering Assertiveness Training for Women beginning Thursday to run for 5 weeks from 7:30 to 10 p.m. The course will be taught by Barbara Bate and Sue Betts, and will include readings, group discussion, roleplay, and practice with videotape feedback. Tuition is $15 for YWCA members, $20 for non-members. Enrollment is limited to 20. For more information or registration call 686-4439, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. weekdays.

A tuition workshop will be held tonight at 7:30 in the EMU Forum. Sponsored by the ASUCO executive, the workshop is open to all students interested in learning about tuition increases and what can be done to prevent future increases.

The People's Law School class will examine grand juries today. The class will discuss the grand jury's history, current use or abuse, the need for grand juries, and for whom they are needed.

Class begins at 7 p.m. in the basement of Central Presbyterian Church, 15th and Ferry, and will last approximately two hours.

For more information, call 345-3202.
