

Senate rejects abortion ban amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate on Wednesday rejected an effort to amend the Constitution to bar abortions, voting 47-40 against putting the issue to a final vote.

The action turned back a move by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., and others opposed to legalized abortions to include a "right-to-life" provision in the Constitution.

Helms told senators that in voting against bringing up his proposal for formal consideration, they were actually voting to kill it.

He said the vote "will be viewed by millions of Americans as a vote against the protection of the life of the unborn."

Helms' proposal would have amounted to a flat ban against all abortions, in effect overturning the landmark 1973 Supreme Court decision which invalidated state anti-abortion laws.

Forests require camping permits

When campers head for their favorite wilderness areas this summer, their first stop will have to be the U.S. Forest Service — to pick up a wilderness permit.

Permits will be required in 12 of Oregon's and Washington's 15 wilderness areas from June 15 to November 15.

The permit system was instituted to protect the wilderness areas from the ever-increasing numbers of campers, hikers and other varieties of nature enthusiasts.

All visitors must obtain permits to visit the Diamond Peak, Eagle Cap, Mountain Lakes, Mt. Hood, Mt. Jefferson, Strawberry Mountain and Three Sisters wilderness areas.

Overnight permits will be required in the Glacier Peak, Mt. Adams, Goat Rocks and Pasayten wilderness areas.

No permits are required in the Gearhart Mountain and Kalmiopsis wilderness in Oregon and the new Hells Canyon wilderness bordering the Snake Canyon.

Permits can be obtained by mail or by applying to the National Forest office in charge of each wilderness area.
