...et al Variety sparks benefit program

A musical potpourri of jazz, folk-ballad and J.S. Bach augmented by a dramatic reading fills the bill of the second annual benefit for the Newman Center scheduled for tonight at 8.

"Charmaine and the Ed Coleman Trio" and Bame Toelken will be the featured musicians, with Ed Raggazino following with the dramatic portion of the program.

Tickets are on sale at the Newman Center, 1850 Emerald St., or at the door before the concert, $2 for students and $2.50 for non-students.

CATS slates fund-raising events

Citizens Against Toxic Sprays (CATS) will be holding two fund-raising events in the next few days. A bake sale will be held at the University Bookstore between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. today.

A "Friends of the Forest Celebration" will be presented Sunday at the WOW Hall, 8th and Lincoln Street, and will feature a Eugene dance collective, Mithrandir. The benefit, which begins at 8 p.m., will be preceded by a buffet at 7 p.m. Tickets are $2 at the door; $5 will include tickets and CATS membership. Child-care will be provided.

The purpose of the bake sale and benefit is to raise funds for the legal battle in the federal courts against the Siuslaw National Forest's spraying of herbicides.

For more information write CATS, Rt. 2, Box 190, Tidewater, Ore. 97390, or CATS, Rt. 1, Box 14, Deadwood, Ore. 97430.

Sandburg show dates corrected

The University production of "The World of Carl Sandburg" which opened Thursday night at the University Theatre, will run tonight through Sunday and May 27, 28 and 29. Dates reported in Thursday's Emerald were incorrect.

Artists display work in gallery

Student artists at Lane Community College (LCC) are participating in a juried student show now through June 3 in the LCC main gallery.

Tom Griffin, Eugene sculptor and employe of the University's art museum, and Walt Stevens, Eugene painter and instructor at the Maude Kerns Art Center, select work for exhibit in the show and will determine the three prize winners.

Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday. The gallery, located in the art and mathematics building on the east side of campus, is closed on weekends.

Handicap aquatics conference set

A nationally recognized leader in aquatic programming for the handicapped, Grace Reynolds of the Southwest Washington YMCA, will serve as the keynote speaker for a one-day conference to be held Saturday, at Oregon State University.

The intent of the conference is to increase awareness of the need for and value of swimming for the handicapped and to provide additional skills in initiating or improving such programs.

Registration will take place Saturday from 8:30 to 9 a.m. at Withycombe Hall on the OSU campus. The conference fee is $2 for non-students, $1 for students. For more information contact John Dunn, assistant professor of physical education, 202 Women's Building, Oregon State University.

LECTURES

Today's architecture and allied arts school faculty lecture series features Ken Helphand speaking on "The Bicycle Kodak." The lecture begins at 4:30 p.m. in 177 Lawrence.

On Saturday, George Houle, director of the New York Pro Musica Antiqua, will lecture and lead an informal discussion concerning performance of music and dance on the 17th century. Sponsored by the University School of Music, the meeting is scheduled from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in 353 Gerlinger Annex. Houle will perform in concert as part of a musical ensemble Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at Central Lutheran Church, 18th and Potter Street. Both events are free.

Gucharan Singh-Khesis, an author, lecturer and director of the Kundalini Research Institute, will speak Monday at noon on "Sports in Consciousness" at the EMU, room to be announced.

A demonstration will accompany the talk, which is free to the public.

MISCELLANEOUS

American Field Service retirees and others interested in forming a social group to support local AFS activities are invited to meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the EMU (room to be posted). Your ideas are appreciated. Call 686-8587 for more information.

The University School of Music's Sunday schedule includes performances by Beth Stephens in a senior degree voice recital at 2 p.m. in Gerlinger Lounge, the University Consort at 3 p.m. in the art museum; Leslie Martin in a senior degree organ recital at 4 p.m. in Beall Hall; and the University Singers at the First Congregational Church at 8 p.m. All performances are free.
