

ARCHIE SPEAKS:

I AM A CANDIDATE FOR LANE COUNTY COMMISSIONER POSITION NO. 1 ON THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

ONE IMPORTANT MATTER IS RECYCLING-IMMEDIATE ACTION MUST BE TAKEN TO SAVE AND CONSERVE OUR NATURAL RESOURCES!

RECYCLING IS IMPORTANT

IT IS VITAL TO THE FUTURE OF OUR COUNTRY TO RECOVER ALL RECYCLABLE MATERIALS.

LANE COUNTY SHOULD BE PLANNING TO REUSE RATHER THAN BURY MOST OF THE GARBAGE IT HANDLES!

POSITIVE ACTION IS NEEDED IN LANE COUNTY GOVERNMENT

ARCHIE SAYS:

During my lifetime I have seen many middle of the roaders and have never been impressed.

One "MAN IN THE MIDDLE" was Herbert Hoover, who stayed firmly in the middle until we plunged into the worst depression in our history.

A second "MAN IN THE MIDDLE," Sir Neville Chamberlain, got along very well in dealings with Adolf Hitler as they brought us "Peace In Our Time," which turned out to be World War II.

A third "MAN IN THE MIDDLE" was Mayor John Lindsay of New York who worked very well with all power factions as he sped the city on the road to bankruptcy.

I may be outspoken and lack the finished evasiveness of a courtroom lawyer, but I feel that it is more important to make my position clear on the issues and have the people know that I plan to take the initiative in matters for the people.

In my forty years of experience in fiscal and business management I have never found it difficult to work with sincere, capable people. I want all people to know that, if I, Archie Weinstein, am elected as your county commissioner, I will assume a positive leadership role, not that of a "MAN IN THE MIDDLE," trying to manipulate and equivocate and playing politics with your tax money.

I WILL NOT DISAPPOINT YOU.

Maxon:

'Likes to see things happen'

Andy Maxon decided to run for the Lane County Commissioners because he "got bit by the bug and likes to see things happen."

Maxon, 54, is the only Republican running for Position three, Democratic incumbent Frank Elliot's seat on the commission. A Eugene realtor, Maxon announced his candidacy last October.

He is not new to the campaign for the county commissioner. In 1972 he was defeated by Elliott in the general election after a seven-man race in the primary.

This time Maxon is unopposed in the primary, but he says he intends to keep busy trying to get his "reduce spending" stand across to the voters.

"Unless we find some way to bring hiring under control," says Maxon, county government spending will continue to increase. He says the county should discontinue hiring any new personnel until 1981.

A major change Maxon would push for is the establishment of an "interim service fund" which would be used to pay outside contractors to provide interim and emergency services as they are needed.

According to Maxon, this would mean the county could reduce the personnel and equipment needed to provide services that are required only part of the year.

"We've been killing the county people with kindness in providing services," said Maxon. He claims his plan will not delete any services, however, he says, "We should be prepared to accept fewer services instead of more."

"Reduced spending is a trend we have to establish," says Maxon, "Yet the service will be delivered if it is called for."

Maxon is opposed to expanding the board to five members because of the costs. As a realtor he also favors "no further dilution of property owners rights."

Maxon also said he is opposed to Land Conservation and Development Commission because "it has reached the point of legislating away citizen's rights."
