Chinese health topic of speech

An American doctor who has twice visited mainland China will speak tonight at 8 at Koinonia Center, 1414 Kincaid St.

Dr. Herman Frankel, a Portland pediatrician, will speak about 'Health Care in China." He will discuss how health is maintained in China, how health care is delivered and how health workers are selected and trained.

Frankel and his wife, Ruth, first visited China during the summer of 1974 with a delegation of the U.S./China People's Friendship Association. Frankel returned to China this year as part of a group of athletes and trainers.

The talk is sponsored by the New American Movement.

Tryouts slated for productions

Tryouts for major roles in Dylan and The Unsinkable Molly Brown will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. at the University Theatre in the Robinson Building. If the weather is nice they will be held on the south side of the building.

For Molly Brown available roles are Molly, Leadville Johnny and Mrs. McGlone. For Dylan available roles are Brinnin, Caitlin and Meg. A pianist will be on hand. Persons trying out should bring music or be prepared to sing from the score for Molly.

All other roles will be cast on June 20, with the time to be announced. For information call Mary Pack at 686-4191.

Whittaker path open for bikes

Bicycle commuters in the Whittaker area of Eugene will be able to ride to the University safely now that a bike path along 5th Avenue is complete.

The path runs from Jefferson to High Streets, then connects with the Cannery Route up Hilyard Street to Franklin Boulevard.

The Eugene Public Works Department announced completion of the new bike path Wednesday. The path is separated from 5th Avenue by a painted white line.

Women's clinic offers practica

A number of student adviser positions are available in the women's clinic area of the student health center.

The positions require a commitment for fall term. Six to nine credits may be arranged through the practicum programs of various departments.

The jobs will involve producing presentations of birth control and other women's health information, working with classes within the health center, developing new programs and other respon-

Applicants must have completed a human sexuality course or be able to demonstrate knowledge in this area, and be oriented toward human services.

Applications are available in area D of the student health center or contact Sarah Hendrickson at the student health center.

SWIG slates policy meeting

The Social Workers Interest Group (SWIG) will hold a meeting Thursday, June 3, at 6 p.m. to discuss the CSPA Policy Council's acceptance of a motion for a separate program unit for an undergraduate level in the state.

Myra Miller and Kenneth Viegas, both professors in CSPA, will be speaking on the topic.

The meeting, to be held in the basement of Hendricks Hall, will begin with a potluck dinner. All persons interested are invited.

Plants root for 'solar' house

What may be the world's only greenhouse entirely heated by solar power is located on Poodle Creek Road near Noti, Oregon.

The passive system captures enough of the sun's heat to keep plants warm through three sunless days and nights.

Constructed by three architecture students, Andy Laidlaw, Jim Bourguin and John Hermannsson, the greenhouse will be open for inspection today from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

The greenhouse was built with recycled materials and has a sod roof and a rock wall for thermal mass. Ed Mazria, a visiting professor from the University of New Mexico, supervised the project.

Rides will be open to people interested in seeing the greenhouse at irregular times throughout the afternoon. Contact the architecture department for rides, details or directions.

De Fazio hired as comptroller

Anthony "Tony" De Fazio, a 21-year-old senior accounting major, has been hired as ASUO Comptroller for 1976-77.

De Fazio, selected from a field of six applicants Tuesday, will take over the position from Steve Schmunk Monday.

The accounting major was hired because "he has some incredible credentials in terms of accounting expertise," according to Jan Oliver, ASUO president-elect. "He had good work experience and received glowing references from former employers and instructors," Oliver said.

De Fazio, presently president of the University's Alpha Kappa Psi business fratemity, plans to be-come a certified public accountant following graduation.

'Country fair' features crafts

The Oregon Country Fair, formerly the Renaissance Faire, is now accepting registration for booth space at the three-day

The Fair is planned for the weekend of June 25-27 and will take place at the customary site near Elmira, just off Highway 126.

The Fair gathers craftspeople and entertainers from throughout the Northwest for a three-day festival of life and art. Two hundred fifty booths will offer wares which have been hand made, home grown or hand gathered. Widely recognized as a major cultural event, the Fair often attracts as many as 20,000 people.

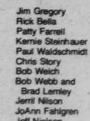

People wishing to have booth space at the Fair must complete registration by Saturday, June 19. This may be done at the Fair office, 454 Willamette Street, at the Saturday Market or by mail. Outof-town people may register by calling 344-5382 or 345-6010.

ASUO seeking summer syllabi

Faculty members who have not yet submitted course syllabi in-formation to the ASUO should do so during the next two weeks.

The information, required by faculty legislation last fall, is needed to complete the Executive's Fall Course Information Booklet, student officials said Wednesday. Only about 30 per cent of the faculty have complied to date.

Faculty members who did not receive questionnaire forms from their department secretaries may pick one up in Suite 4 EMU. The completed information should be returned to the Executive office as soon as possible in order for the booklet to be complete for early orientation in July.
