"Man of La Mancha" won several Tony Awards, as well as the New York Drama Critics' Circle Award in 1966. It ran in New York until June 1971, a total of 2,328 performances.

ASUO to hear aid complaints

Any students who have grievances about their financial aid packets should contact Peter Spratt in Suite 4, EMU (686-3724). The ASUO will investigate complaints involving students who feel they should have received more financial aid or had any other problems with the process.

Deadlines for posts extended

The deadline for applications for 1976-77 ASUO vice-presidents has been extended to 5 p.m. today.

Students interested in working as vice-presidents for University Affairs, Community Relations and Programs or State and Local Affairs should turn in applications at Suite 5 or Suite 4, EMU, by that time.

Term's end

Summer time schedules are now available at Oregon Hall. Registration for summer term is June 21 and classes begin June 22.

Oregon Hall will be open this week and the next at its regular hours (10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.). Grades will be mailed June 16 or June 17 and will be available for students to check June 18 at the Office of Student Services, Oregon Hall.

The Financial Aids Office will maintain regular hours (10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.) both weeks, also.

If hay fever, colds or just finals blues plague you, the Student Health Center will aid the sick and assistants for the three areas has also been extended. Applications for those positions are due at 5 p.m. Friday.

Frisbee playing sets new record

White Bird's Greater Frisbee Marathon will end around noon today, completing five weeks of continuous frisbee playing. The marathon, which began May 3, raised approximately $1,200 for White Bird Clinic and established a new world record for frisbee marathons.

The marathon was originally scheduled to end two weeks ago, but continued for an additional 336 hours when event coordinators were notified of a new record of 720 hours, established in Iowa. Eugene's frisbee marathon bettered that mark by 120 hours.

There were times when even the most dedicated frisbeers doubted that the marathon would ever reach its goal; several times the same people played for four hours straight — once a couple of them played eight hours — with no sign of replacements.

Of course, all the rainy weather, water balloon attacks and 4 a.m. frisbee shifts were rewarded with equally good times. For example, one Sunday morning, six die-hard frisbee players prepared crepes at the frisbee site and polished off half a dozen bottles of champagne — playing frisbee the whole time.

The frisbee playing may be done, but the event isn't completely over.

"We still have to collect the money and send the verification to Guinness and the International Frisbee Association," said Suzy Price, one of the event coordinators.

State asks early license renewal

Renewal notices for drivers not scheduled to get a photo license in July, those with even-numbered birthdates, were mailed about June 4 by the Department of Motor Vehicles. Such drivers are urged to renew as soon as possible so field offices can concentrate on photo business in July.

Oregon's color-photo driver license program, which starts July 1, will bring a new way to renew licenses for half the drivers due to renew after that date.

Renewal notices for drivers scheduled to get photo licenses in July will be mailed on a staggered basis. These drivers must renew in person at the motor vehicles office or examination station.
