

Go to museums or libraries?

But it's summer!

Slipping a few books in with your sun bathing gear may sound like a fun way to get through that summer economics course but it usually doesn't work. Chances are, the only way to get those theories down pat is the usual way—bury yourself in a windowless niche in the library. And unfortunately, the University's libraries will be open, so there's no excuse to avoid them.

For the first eight weeks of summer session, the main library and the science library will be open Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday, 2 to 9 p.m. Reserve book room hours will be the same except on Saturday, when it will open at 8 a.m. and close at 5 p.m.

The various special areas of the main library will each have their own sporadic hours, so check their times before you head on over.

Media Lab—Tuesday and Wednesday, 7 to 10 p.m.; 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m.

Douglass Listening Room—Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m.; Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday, 1 to 5 p.m. and Sunday, 2 to 9 p.m.

Graphic Arts Service—Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday, closed.

Audiovisual Media Center—Monday through Thursday, 8-10:30 a.m. and 12:30-2 p.m.; Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday, closed.

Newspaper Section—Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, closed.

Special Collections Section—Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.; Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday, closed.

From Aug. 14 to Sept. 3, both libraries will be open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.;

Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and closed Sunday.

The law library will be open until the end of the law school's summer session (July 30), Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Friday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and closed Sunday.

If the library doesn't sound inviting but you still want to duck out of the summer heat for a brief intermission, try a museum.

The University's art museum is open daily except Monday from noon to 5 p.m. Its largest attraction is the Murray Warner Collection of Oriental Art, which includes over 6,000 objects principally representing the Chinese and Japanese cultures.

Two special exhibitions will be on display at the art museum until July 18. Selected entries, award winners and purchase awards from the Fifth Annual Statewide Art Services Art Competition will be exhibited in all downstairs changing galleries. In Gallery 2D (the New Focus Gallery), portraits of past University presidents will be on display.

Another museum, though not on campus, is the Butler Museum of American Indian Art, 1155 W. 1st Ave. It houses displays of American Indian art and artifacts such as basketry, pottery, weavings, clothing, carving, masks, jewelry and hide paintings. Over 100 tribes from nine culture areas are represented. Admission to the Butler Museum is $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for ages 12-18 and 25 cents for children under 12. This admission fee includes a guided tour of the museum and a slide show.

For Carnival Theater

The whole summer's a stage

Both adult and children's plays are scheduled for the 14th annual season of Carnival Theater, a University Theater (UT) production in the outdoor carnival tent.

Kicking off the season is "Habeas Corpus" by Alan Bennett. This English farce is directed by Lou Salerni, a University Ph.D. candidate in theater, and will be performed June 25 and 26, and July 1, 2, and 3. The show's three co-stars are Wayne Ballantyne, Gwen Jackson and Jackie McClure.

Second on the program is Sidney Michael's "Dylan," directed by University theater professor, Faber DeChaine. Produced once before by UT in 1967, "Dylan" is a biography of the 20th century Welsh poet, Dylan Thomas. Tom Laswell stars in the title role, and performance dates are July 9, 10, 15, 16 and 17.

The summer's musical, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," will be performed on July 22, 23, 24, 29, 30 and 31. Thomas Gressler, Carnival Theater director, will direct this musical written by Meredith Wilson and Richard Morris. Susan Pack Newbury will portray Molly Brown, John Flaherty will play Leadville Johnny and Gerda Brown will be Gladys McGlone.

The final adult play is "Dracula," adapted by Ph.D. candidates Jo Leslie Collier and K.G. Hawthorne from the novel by Bram Stoker. Collier says it will carry a "slightly feminist" viewpoint. It is scheduled for Aug. 6, 7, 12, 13 and 14.

Tickets and information are available at the Robinson Theater box office or by calling 686-4191. Admission is $3 for the first three productions and $4 for "The Unsinkable Molly Brown." University students, senior citizens and children under 12 are eligible for a $1 discount on all four shows.

In addition to the four adult plays, three children's shows are scheduled for matinee performances. "Beauty and the Beast" will run on July 3, 6, 7 and 8. "Cinderella" will follow on July 17, 20, 21 and 22. "Alice in Wonderland" will wind up the summer on July 31 and Aug. 3, 4 and 5.
