

Speaker programs set

Two visiting speakers will make separate presentations Tuesday under the sponsorship of Clergy and Laity Concerned.

David Heavyside of National Land for People will speak at the Jasper Grange Hall, on "Writing and Enforcing Laws to Protect the Small Farmer." The Grange Hall can be reached by turning south on 42nd Avenue and following the signs to Jasper. The public talk will follow a 7 p.m. potluck.

Gordon Greathouse of the United Methodist Seminars on National and International Affairs will speak on the "South Africa and the Role of the Multinationals" tonight at 7:30 at the First Methodist Church, West 14th Avenue and Olive Street. Greathouse's presentation will include a film on Africa.

Luncheon to discuss aid

Financial aid available to older students will be discussed at a no-host luncheon Wednesday from 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the YWCA Lounge in Gerlinger Hall.

Ruth Burns, associate director of financial aid, will talk about the kind of aid available to older students, students who have been away from the University for a period of time, students who are supporting themselves, students who must provide for a family and students who need financial assistance to attend school. The seminar is sponsored by the University's Lifelong Learning Center and the YWCA.

Geologists plan wilds trip

A field trip to the Alvord Desert region of Harney County in south-eastern Oregon is being planned by Ernest Lund of the University's geology department.

The trip, limited to 20 persons, will be made during spring vacation, March 19 through 23, and will focus on examining geologic features and observing area wildlife. The group will also spend a number of days at the Malheur Refuge in the Steens Mountains.

Cost of the trip is $65, including food, lodging and travel. Registration deadline is March 1 and students may earn one hour of credit for the trip by enrolling in GEOL 199 spring term.

For registration and additional information, contact either Lund at 140 Geology, 686-4577, or the geology department office at 686-4573.

Group reviews requests

The Joint Lane County-City of Eugene revenue sharing budget subcommittee will meet to review applications for funds on Friday. The meeting will begin at 7 a.m. at VIP's restaurant, 1200 Oak St.

In addition to accepting or rejecting applications for review, the group will discuss citizens' advisory committee participation, public hearings, the review process and funding totals.

The committee is made up of representatives of Eugene and Lane County and is responsible for making recommendations for granting revenue sharing money to agencies providing health and social services.

Child workshop to up-grade staff

Two informational workshops dealing with how to apply for a national Child Development Associate credential (CDA) are scheduled in different Oregon locations in early February. The two-hour workshops are intended for those responsible for staff development in early childhood centers and for teachers in those centers.

First of the CDA workshops will be held in the Community Meeting Room, Far West Federal Savings Bank, 3333 North Lombard, Portland, on Tuesday. The second will be in the Health Building, Rooms 115-116, Lane Community College, Eugene, on Thursday. Both workshops are scheduled from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The Office of Child Development (OCD), started the CDA program in an effort to upgrade the quality of care the nation's children receive.

Those interested in additional information about the CDA workshops may telephone 229-4815 in Portland.

Benefit dance to echo Forties

The Easter Seal School and Treatment Center is sponsoring a benefit dinner dance on March 19, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Eugene Hotel. Big band music of the forties will be provided by the Starlifers.

The dinner-dance will be the kick-off for the 1977 National Easter Seal Society Telethon which will be March 26 and 27. Tickets are $12.50 per person and may be obtained at the following outlets: Easter Seal School, 3575 Donald St.; Meier & Frank, Valley River Center, Mattox Outfitters, Downtown Mall; Lights for Music, 521 Main St., Springfield;

Curator to discuss book

The curator of special collections at the University Library will be guest speakers at a winter term meeting of the Friends of the University Library on Wednesday.

Author-scholar Martin Schmitt will discuss his latest manuscript entitled "James and Hanna, or, From the Rock-bound Coast of Maine to the Sunny Shores of California," at 7:30 p.m. in the Gerlinger Alumni Lounge.

The public is invited to attend.

Schmitt is a prominent Northwest author. He has written numerous scholarly articles and reviews on the subject of western history and is the author of 11 books.

Garden plots available

Even though Oregon's extended drought is making it look like a rough year for agriculture, Lane County apartment dwellers will have a chance to try their gardening luck. Garden plots in the Alton Baker Park Community Garden will be offered again this year, according to the County Parks Office.

The parks office in the new Public Service Building at 125 E. Eighth Ave. will begin taking reservations for plots today, so gardeners who want the choicest piece of bottom land should sign up early. One 20 by 45-foot plot is allotted per family for the season, which lasts from April through November.

A $10 service fee is charged for each plot, but senior citizens may obtain plots at a reduced fee through Lane County Senior Services Division at 170 E. 11th Ave., 687-4038.

The County will till the plots in March or April and water outlets are adjacent to the plots. Gardeners must supply their own tools and materials and are responsible for their own system of storage, according to the parks office.

For more information, contact the Parks and Open Space Office at 687-4231.

Southern internships open

The Southern Regional Training Program in Public Administration is now accepting applications for fellowships for the 1977-78 academic year. Designed to prepare students for careers in government, the program offers an opportunity for graduate study at two southern universities.

The fellowships have a value of $4,600, including $1,300 in remission of fees and tuition. Married students receive a grant of $400 in addition to the regular cash stipend of $3,300.

Students who qualify will study at the University of Tennessee and either the University of Alabama or the University of Kentucky. Upon completion of the program, they will receive a certificate in public administration. In addition, they will be eligible to complete an M.A. or M.P.A. degree at one of the institutions attended.

Those who are accepted into the program will serve a ten-week internship during the summer of 1977. Beginning about mid-June, they will intern with a state, local or federal agency in the South. During the academic year, they will spend the fall semester at either Alabama or Kentucky. All the fellows will attend the winter and spring quarters at Tennessee.

Applications must be received by March 1. For information and applications write to: Coleman B. Ransone, Jr., Educational Director, Southern Regional Training Program in Public Administration, Drawer I, University, Alabama, 35486.
