

Israeli counsel to speak

Schlomo Tadmor, counsel general of Israel for the Northwestern United States, will speak on peace in the Middle East during a scheduled public lecture at the University Wednesday.

His talk, entitled "Who is Blocking Peace in the Middle East?" will be held at 12:30 p.m. in 167 EMU. The public is invited to attend.

The counsel general is visiting the University as part of a regional tour. During his visit to Eugene he also will speak to members of the Jewish Student Association/Hillel at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Koinonia Center, 1414 Kincaid St.

Museum bust missing

Campus security officers at the University have reported the theft of a life-size bust from the art museum. The theft is believed to have occurred recently.

Missing is a bronze bust sculpture of Prince Lucien Campbell, who served as president of the University from 1923 to 1925. The artwork is believed to weigh between 50 and 75 pounds. Officials said it was taken from its permanent location within a museum courtyard.

The piece was created by artist A. Phimster Proctor, a personal friend of the former University president. It was given to the University in about 1928.

Persons with information about the missing artwork are asked to contact the Campus Security at 686-5444.

NW committee calls meeting

The last meeting of the local committee planning the Northwest Conference on the International Situation will be held tonight at 7:30 in the EMU, room to be posted.

The conference is scheduled for this Saturday at the University of Washington in Seattle. Rides and housing for the event are being coordinated by the local committee. For more information, contact the committee in the EMU Lobby or call 689-7062.

Course offers perspective on today's woman

"Changing Women in a Changing World," an introduction to women's studies, will again be offered by Lane Community College beginning Wednesday at the LCC Downtown Center, 1059 Wilamette St.

This is the second term LCC has offered the women's studies class downtown. The three credit college course will be held from 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. on Wednesdays through June 8.

Kate Barry will teach the course which will include an explanation of the basic issues necessary to understand the position of women in today's society. Topics include women in the economy, the housewife, marriage and motherhood, sex role stereotypes, beauty and sexuality, forms of social control, minority women and the women's movement.

Registration can be completed at the first class session. Cost of the course is $32.70. For more information, contact Kate Barry, 686-5491 or 747-4501 ext. 241, or the LCC Women's Awareness Center, 747-4501, ext. 391.

Feel your life passing before you?

Your roommate locked you out of the bathroom and the refrigerator.
The garbage man ran over Zipper, your favorite bike.
The cat "left his mark" in the middle of your earphones, again.
Nobody wants to jet off to Palm Springs with you, all expenses paid.
Times are tough. But we can help.

CLASSIFIEDS

Find a cozy new home for yourself — or that cat.
Buy a new bike, the Zipper II. (Beware your garbageman.)
And find a buddy through Rides and Riders to while away SPRING BREAK.
