

Pancake fundraiser slated

An all-you-can-eat fundraising pancake breakfast to raise money to defray the cost for senior adults to attend Camp Tamarack is scheduled for Saturday morning at the Campbell Senior Center, 155 High St.

The breakfast, which includes pancakes, beef sausage, juice, milk or coffee will be served from 8 a.m. to noon. Cost is $1.10 per person and 75 cents for children under 9.

Tickets are available at the door.

The money will be used to help seniors attend the camp located near Suttle Lake on the Santiam Pass. The camp is sponsored by the University Recreation and Park Management Department and the Eugene Parks and Recreation Department.

Pamphlet offers septic tank info

"Care and Feeding of your Septic Tank," is the title of the new publication available free to Lane County residents from the County Water Pollution Control Division.

The one-page leaflet provides a series of simple maintenance suggestions to help prolong the life of a septic tank.

Some 40,000 septic tanks are located throughout the county. With proper care they can be expected to last about 12 to 15 years. Many failures occur in half that time due to a lack of proper maintenance.

The leaflet tells homeowners how to measure the tank and to decide when the system needs pumping. It also suggests how long the system can operate with certain types of facilities attached, such as a garbage disposal.

The publication will be mailed to Lane County citizens free by contacting the Water Pollution Control Division, Lane County Public Service Building, 125 East Eight Ave., telephone 687-4061.

Performer sets appearance

Minnie Ripperton, an artist for Epic records, will be at Everybody's Records, 40 East 5th Ave., at 4 p.m. this afternoon. Ripperton will give away poster blow-ups of the photograph used on her most recent album Stay In Love.

Ripperton will perform tonight at 8 p.m. as the opening act with the George Benson concert in Mac Court.

Author to speak on prophecies

Author, lecturer and naturalist Vinson Brown will present a talk on "Native American Prophecies and the Baha'i Faith," at 7 p.m. Sunday, April 3, in the EMU Ballroom.

Brown is the author of 23 books including "Amateur Naturalist's Handbook," "Reading the Woods" and "How to Understand Animal Talk." He has also written several books on Native Americans including "Warriors of the Rainbow," and "Great Upon the Mountain."

No fee, no enroll

The article in Thursday's Emerald reported that Cindy Bussiere, statistician for the registrar's office, said only half the students who have registered have paid their fees. Technically, students are not considered registered until their fees are paid.

BRING pickup set for Saturday

There will be a BRING Recycling pickup this Saturday from 10 to 1 at Condon Grade School in the alleyway between E. 17th and E. 19th Avenues. Glass, aluminum, cans, cardboard, egg cartons, returnable cans and bottles and mixed scrap paper are acceptable. For further information contact BRING at 746-3023.

Prison topic of discussion

A local prison group, "Hands Across the Wall," will sponsor a discussion on Women in Prison 7 p.m. Sunday at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, 13th Avenue and Pearl Street. The discussion, led by members of the group, will include a film, "We're Alive." Child-care and refreshments will be provided. Admission to the discussion is free.

Day care group plans strategy

Persons interested in campaigning for the passage of legislation providing financial aid for child care are urged to attend a meeting at 10:30 a.m. in the EMU. It is the first in a series of weekly strategy sessions to continue through April.

House Bill 2667 would provide nearly $3.7 million in financial aid for student parents attending state institutions.

Volunteers are needed for letter writing campaigns, conducting door-to-door surveys, planning a Day Care demonstration, circulating petitions and organizing car pools for legislative hearings in Salem.
