

Women's choir appears

Under the direction of Paul Westlund, the Women's Choral Society will bloom in Beall Concert Hall at 3 p.m. on Sunday with a concert entitled, "Spring Sing." Special guests of the Society will be the University's Oboe and Saxophone Ensembles, directed by J. Robert Moore.

Director Westlund says that often the music performed by the Choral Society was written for church choirs composed of young boys. He doesn't view this as too much of a problem, however, and has included on the concert Benjamin Britten's "Missa Brevis", which is just such a piece. Guest soloist, Cheryl Aydelott, will perform with the Society on Schubert's "Serenade".

The Society's members come from all walks of life and run the complete spectrum of age. One member, described by Westlund as, "a good alto, with a big sound that just booms out", has been with the group since its formation, 43 years ago.

Although there is no admission charge, the Society hopes to receive donations from people attending the concert. As in the past, the donations will go into a scholarship fund for support of music students.

Westlund tells the story of one music graduate who, after "making it", returned to Eugene to thank the Society for the scholarship he received while attending the University of Oregon many years ago. "He told the Society that he probably would not have been able to stay in school without that $30 scholarship," Westlund says. Today, the Society offers 2 or 3 scholarships a year in the $250 range.

So when you reach for that donation on Sunday, remember, the ladies will be singing their hearts out for you — and a few very lucky young students — as well.

Buddy Powers, Jimmy Diamond give concert-jam on Sunday

Fresh from the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco, jazz artists Buddy Powers and Jimmy Diamond will be coming to the Rodeway Inn this Sunday as guest performers for the Traditional Jazz Society of Oregon.

Buddy Powers, on trumpet, put in almost four years with Woody Herman's orchestra, and has recorded with Herman as well as with Tony Bennett, Frank Sinatra, Nat King Cole and Cal Tjader. He has played the last two years with the Nob Hill Gang Dixieland Band.

Jimmy Diamond, piano and vocals, played with Turk Murphy and Lu Watters and has toured with Charlie Barnet and worked with Red Nichols, Muggsy Spanier and Jack Teagarden. He's the leader of the Nob Hill Gang Dixieland Band, now playing at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco.

The concert/jam will begin at 1 p.m. and last until around 6 p.m. Admission is $1 for students and $2 for others. The Rodeway Inn is located near the Beltline Road exit at Springfield. All jazz lovers are welcome.

Modern Jazz Quartet plays in Portland

The original members of the Modern Jazz Quartet, back together again for their first historic tour since disbanding in 1974, appear in concert at the Portland Auditorium on Tuesday, April 26 at 8 p.m.

Called "the best of the best," by noted jazz writer Leonard Feather and "best small jazz ensemble in the U.S.A.," by Downbeat magazine, the MJQ fuses the finest elements of swing, bebop, blues and classical music into the smooth, refined excellence that first startled the world of jazz in the 50's.

For 22 years the talents of John Lewis (piano), Milt Jackson (vibraharp), Percy Heath (bass) and Connie Kay (drums) perfected a balance between composition forms, the sensitive economy of John Lewis' piano and the flowing melodies of Milt Jackson's vibes share the spontaneous solos that have packed concert halls and jazz festivals everywhere.

Originally the rhythm section of Dizzy Gillespie's big band in the 1940's, The Modern Jazz Quartet has the longest life of any ensemble in the history of jazz. They have recorded over thirty albums, mostly on the Atlantic label.

Tickets for this Northwest Releasing event are on sale at The Ticket Place at Lipmans (downtown), First Federal in Vancouver and the Auditorium.
