

Last concert presented by chamber orchestra

The University of Oregon Sinfonietta, a 28 member chamber orchestra, will present its final concert of the year in Beall Concert Hall tonight at 8 p.m.

Conducting the Sinfonietta is Morrette Rider, dean of the School of Music. The program will feature assistant professor of music Robert Moore as soloist. Oboist Moore, now in his second at the University, will perform "Concerto in C Major for Oboe and Orchestra" by Franz Joseph Haydn.

The opening work on the program will be the Third Orchestral

Suite in D Major by Johann Sebastian Bach. The suite is one of four compositions in this form by Bach. Written around 1730, the suite contains the well known "Air," frequently played as a solo work, and five contrasting movements including several baroque dance forms.

The remainder of the program will be devoted to the Third Symphony in D Major by Franz Schubert. The symphony was composed in 1815 when the composer was 18 years old and reveals a pronounced Italian influence.

Admission is free.

LCC student art displayed through June

A juried exhibit by art students at Lane Community College will be on display in the LCC Art and Applied Design main gallery from May 16 through June 2.

Michael Whitenack, Director of Statewide Services of the University of Oregon Art Museum, will jury the show to determine which works will be exhibited and to award three $25 cash prizes.

Work in all mediums will be presented in the show. The exhibits will be projects completed by LCC art students during art classes.

Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Fridays.

Seven positions open as CCPA board needs filling

Every six months there is an election at the Community Center For The Performing Arts. Being a non-profit, community oriented Center requires that all of its major decision making be the responsibility of a Board of Directors; and that board of directors be composed of members of the community.

It is a twelve person board. Seven positions are up for election now. The job requires a person who is interested in the growth of the center, who can work well in a democratic body, and has an awareness of the community and its functions, and who takes interest in the arts. The position is a volunteer position. There is one board meeting per week.

The position's advantages are the excitement and satisfaction of seeing the Community Center For The Performing Arts grow into a well recognized landmark; a community showcase for its performing arts.

There is to be an election at the Center this evening at 7 p.m. To be nominated and elected requires only that you be present and that you can say a few words about yourself and your relationship with the Center. The general public is invited to attend.

Two choirs orchestra to give concert

The Lane Community College (LCC) Concert Choir, Baroque Orchestra, and Brass Choir will present a joint concert tonight at 8 p.m. in LCC's performing arts theatre.

Under the direction of Wayte Kirchner, the 80-voice choir will sing a largely contemporary and secular program. The Baroque Orchestra and the Brass Choir, conducted by Nathan Cammack, will present mostly classical works, including pieces by Handel, Bach, Telemann, Mozart, and Vivaldi.

The concert is free.
