

YWCA course begins

The University YWCA is offering assertiveness training for women beginning today from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

The course is taught by Sue Bettis and Molly Fox. It will include learning skills assessing communication strengths and weaknesses, receiving and sending clearer messages in interactions, learning to say "no" to unfair requests, protecting rights while affirming the rights of others, learning to deal with frustration and anger and choosing when not to assert oneself and why.

Enrollment is limited to 24 persons.
For more information or registration, call 686-4439 weekdays.

Emerald errs, YWCA heads 'Friendship'

Wednesday's Emerald story on the Exceptional Friendship program incorrectly stated that the program was sponsored by the Campus YMCA. Exceptional Friendship is sponsored by the Campus YWCA.

Merrill Lynch picket set

A picket of the Merrill Lynch offices will be held today between 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. at the fountain on the Downtown Mall.

The picket is being sponsored by the People for Southern African Freedom to oppose racist South African government policies.

Merrill Lynch is an investment firm which promotes the sale of the Kruggerand, a one-ounce gold coined minted in South Africa.

For more information contact Bruce Bowers at 343-9193.

Child care session set

The Child Care and Development Center and the EMU childcare center will sponsor a training session for teacher aides all day Saturday in 112 and 113 EMU.

Several workshops and presentations are scheduled after registration at 9 a.m. There is no charge.

The first session, beginning at 9:30 a.m., is "Respecting the Child," a presentation of Drykersian principles and some problem-solving experiences.

Later participants will choose three of eight workshops to attend. Infant care, pre-school art, pre-school language and creating a nap-room atmosphere — child massage are among those offered.

At 3:15 p.m. Mark Oldham from the Children Services Division will give a presentation on child abuse and the teacher's responsibility to the law.

Sessions on preventing pre-school accidents, recognizing common childhood disease and how to react to crises will also be held.

The public is invited to attend any of the presentations.

For more information call Pat Gallegos, CCDC educational coordinator at 686-4384, mornings.

Weaver to talk on aging

U.S. Congressman James Weaver, D-Eugene, will deliver a public lecture at the University Friday commemorating the anniversary of the founding of the University's Center for Gerontology.

Weaver will speak on "Current Trends in Gerontology: A Report from Washington" at 10:30 a.m. in Room 167 of the EMU.

His talk is free and open to the public.

Senior citizens needing transportation to the address may call the center at 686-4207.

Weaver's talk is the first in a year-long series of events being planned to mark the center's 10th anniversary.

P.E. group meets today

All physical education students, graduate and undergraduate, are invited to attend the first general meeting of Phi Epsilon Kappa (PEK) set for 4 p.m. today in the EMU (room to be announced).

PEK is an association devoted to service and promotion of physical education, health and recreation on the campus and in the community. It arranges renowned speakers to come to the University, shows films, sponsors a soccer team, initiates projects and organizes the annual fun-run event, "Torture Ridge".

Details about club membership and a cut-rate ski trip will be discussed at the meeting today. All physical education students are urged to attend.

Bob Hope seeks talent

Attention comedians, magicians, actors and actresses: The Bob Hope Search for Tops in Collegiate Talent is looking for performers in the areas of pop rock, rhythm blues, country, folk, jazz and classical music, dance and other entertainment forms.

Activities set for children

"The Hardy Bunch," an activities program for children sponsored by the Eugene Parks and Recreation Department's Specialized Recreation Program, will begin its fall schedule on Oct. 7.

The free program, open to all children ages 6 to 15, is held from 7:30-9:30 p.m. the first and third Fridays of each month at Westmoreland Community Center, 1545 W. 22nd Ave.

For additional information call Terry at 687-5311.

Competition is open to any full time undergraduate or graduate student who is enrolled and pursuing a degree at the time of application.

Persons interested in competing or receiving more information on the competition should contact Mark Powell at the ASUO office, Suite 4, EMU, or phone ext. 3724 by Oct. 31.

Finalists will appear in sectional competition for the Northwest, Dec. 1 in Missoula, Mont. Two sectional finalists will appear with Bob Hope Dec. 2 and then go to national finals in Kansas City. Finalists from the national finals will then appear on the Bob Hope Television Special in February, 1978.
