

'Whale Night' benefit set

The Oregonians Cooperating To Protect Whales (OCTPW) and the University Survival Center will present "An Evening For Whales" with a benefit dance Friday in the EMU ballroom from 8:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

Proceeds of the dance will go to improvements at the OCTPW office, 873 Willamette St., on behalf of whale education efforts. The group plans to circulate petitions on a statewide basis to boycott Japanese and Russian products.

Wheatfield, Slow Buck and Lori Moritz will provide music at the dance Friday. Tickets are $2 in advance or $2.50 at the door. They can be picked up at the EMU main desk, Sun Shop, Everybody's Records, John Warren Stores or the downtown office of OCTPW.

Fiji's rechartering slated

It will be an eventful weekend for the Fiji's, thanks to their recent recognition by the international chapter of Phi Gamma Delta.

The rechartering of the Epsilon Omicron chapter of Phi Gamma Delta will occur at ceremonies beginning Friday at the Valley River Inn.

An "all campus lunch" will be held Saturday at 12:15 p.m. in the McKenzie Room, Valley River Inn. The public is invited.

Delta colony of Phi Gamma Delta has been on campus for two years. The local chapter was founded on campus in 1911 and was active for 58 years until the house was closed because of anti-war and anti-establishment feelings at that time, according to one of its colony members. There have been 932 members initiated into this fraternity since its opening.

Salem set for non-traditional ed conference

A conference of legislators and educational policy makers will be held Friday at Chemeketa Community College in Salem, from 1 to 9 p.m.

The conference on "Non-traditional Learners and Post-secondary Educational Policy," will focus on the educational needs of persons older than traditional students with fulltime commitments to work or family, who live in a place without easy access to a college campus and who have financial limitations.

The conference is one of several to be held at various Oregon locations and is coordinated by Valerie McIntyre, assistant CSPA professor.

McIntyre is coordinator of a University of Oregon project to develop programs for non-traditional learners at the state's public and private colleges and universities. The project is funded primarily by the Oregon Educational Coordinating Commission.

Persons interested in attending the conference at Chemeketa may reach McIntyre at 686-5163.

Classical trio to perform

The Elizabethan Trio, an ensemble of three women, will bring the Renaissance to Beall Hall Friday at 2:30 p.m.

The program, "The Flourishing Age: A Literary and Musical Tour," features Anna Carol Dudley, soprano; Laurette Goldberg, harpsichord and virginals, and Rella Lossy, dramatic narrator. Included in the program will be dramatic readings from Ronsard, Arbeau, Ascham, Nashe, Burton and Shakespeare, accompanied by the music of Chambonnières, Guedron, Frescobaldi, Caccini, Byrd and Dowland.

The performers share a variety of backgrounds and interests. Goldberg teaches privately and is on the faculties at the University of California Berkeley and the San Francisco Conservatory. Dudley also teaches at San Francisco State University, Stanislaus State College, the Baroque Music Seminar at Cazadero and the Basically Baroque Symposium at University of California San Diego.

Lossy is a member of the Directory of American Poets and theater editor of the "East Bay Review."

The program is free and open to the public.
