

Committee slots open

University governance has often been likened to an iceberg: the University Assembly forms the tip, and beneath it lies a vast array of committees.

Close to 50 of these committees have slots open for student membership. ASUO Pres. Gary Feldman says the selection of student members is done by an ASUO Committee On Committees, chaired by Jeff Fisher.

Today at 2 p.m. is the last chance to apply for a spot on several committees, including the Academic Standards Committee.

"Interest and experience are generally what we look for in the applications," says Cathy Teamen, SUAB chair.

"But experience is not necessary. We give a lot of weight to the essay and how much interest applicants express."

Teamen adds that if two applicants seem almost identical in every respect, the date of the application is the deciding factor.

Applications can be picked up at the SUAB desk, Suite 4, in the EMU.

Ballet troupe from Idaho to give show

The Ballet Folk of Moscow, Idaho, will perform at Beall Concert Hall, University of Oregon, Saturday at 8 p.m.

The troupe's ballet will be a mixture of classical and folk dance. There also will be new ballets inspired by Russian folk dances.

Prof examines Elizabethans

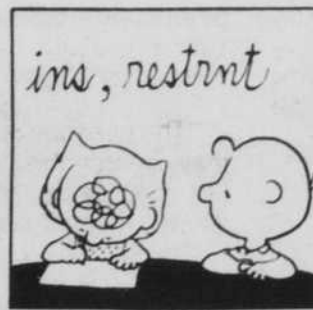

Joel Hurstfield, English history professor at the University of London, will deliver a public lecture on "Were the Elizabethan Government and People Hostile to Liberty," today at 4 in 110 Fenton Hall.

His books, articles and visiting lectures have established an international reputation as a leading historian of 16th Century England.

His visit to the University is sponsored by the Departments of English and History.

ASUO, Hope want talent

Bob Hope is looking for talent in the nation's universities and the ASUO is trying to help him. The ASUO will sponsor a program Wednesday Oct. 25, in the EMU Ballroom at 7:30 p.m. to determine which University student will advance to sectional competition in the Bob Hope Search for the Top in Collegiate Talent.

Mark Powell of the ASUO said the competition is open to any full-time student presently enrolled at the University. The winner will be eligible to advance to the sectionals at the University of Montana. The finals will be held in Kansas City and that program will be part of a Bob Hope television special.

All entries must register with the ASUO by Monday and there will be a contestants meeting 4:30 p.m. Monday. For more information contact the ASUO in Suite 4 of the EMU.

Photos depict Indian life

The selection is from more than 100 photographs documenting the land, people and quality of life on the Rosebud Indian Reservation in Spring Creek, South Dakota.

The pictures are the work of Father Don Doll, who lived as a Jesuit parish priest in Spring Creek while on leave from Creighton University in 1974.

Doll entered the Jesuit novitiate in 1955 and first became involved in photography while on assignment to the St. Francis Mission in Spring Creek. He currently serves as chairman of the Fine and Performing Arts Department at Creighton.

The Photography at Oregon Gallery is open, free to the public, from 12 noon to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

A close-up look at life on an Indian reservation will be displayed in Photography at Oregon Gallery, at the University Museum of Art, from Oct. 22 to Nov. 20.

International students noted

The Foreign Student Friendship Foundation will hold a reception Sunday honoring international students attending the University and Lane Community College (LCC).

The event will be in the social room of the First Congregational Church, 1050 E. 23rd Ave., from 4 to 6 p.m. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.
