

Women hold workshop

A women's sexuality workshop will be offered Saturday from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. by feminist counselor Carol Green.

Reservations are necessary to secure a place in the workshop. The fee is $15-$35, based on financial need.

The workshop is designed to "demystify the whole area of sexuality." In a small group setting, women will attempt to raise their sexual consciousness through a variety of exercises and techniques of the Gestalt movement, guided meditation, body work and alternatives looking at self.

Green says, "Just hearing another woman describe her experiences can be very important. We need to relearn that it is okay to feel good."

'People' seminar offered

The Family Counseling Services Good Neighbor Project will offer a basic seminar this weekend at the Newman Center, 1850 Emerald St.

The seminar begins with registration at 7 p.m. on Friday and continues all day Saturday and Sunday. Cost for 25 hours of training is $25.

The Good Neighbor Project, in its fourth year of community service, aims to teach people practical approaches to social and emotional well being. The seminar is open to the public and will emphasize how people learn more about themselves, including how they communicate and listen to others.

For more information, call Jessica Weaver at 342-2551.

Art classes to commence

Elementary school youngsters in the Eugene area will be able to attend special art classes again this winter at the University.

Beginning Jan. 30, the University Department of Art Education will offer two six-week after-school art classes for youngsters in grades one to six.

One class will meet on Monday afternoons. The second class will meet Wednesday afternoons, beginning Feb. 1. Classes will be held in Lawrence Hall from 4 to 4:45 p.m.

Students will receive instruction using a variety of art materials. Teachers will be undergraduate students with supervision by a certified art teacher. A fee of $5.50 will cover all expenses.

Further information and registration may be obtained by contacting the art education department, 686-3639. The department office is open weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

Forum to hold seminar

The Cultural Forum is holding a free seminar for area organizations regularly using films for program and fund-raising activities in the EMU Forum Room at 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

The seminar will include hand-out information from various booking agencies, advertising information and previews of available films.

Tim Clott, vice-president of a professional booking company in Hollywood, will conduct the seminar. Clott is a former Arizona State University student programmer.

BSU sponsors film tonight on S. Africa

"South Africa — The Rising Tide" will be shown tonight at 7 in the EMU, room to be posted, at the third meeting in a four-part series on South African Awareness by the Black Student Union (BSU).

The most recent film to come out on the South African controversy, it "uses rare historical footage to trace the source of today's events to their colonial roots," says Cliff Jones, BSU member. Steve Biko, South African Student Association founder who died last year in jail, makes comments throughout the film.

Ozodi Sosugi, African Student Association president, and Schmsi Elegba, Nigerian Student Association president, will answer questions and lead a discussion after the film.

Boyd sets up 'student hours'

University Pres. William Boyd is setting aside a two-hour block on his Thursday appointment calendar for University students who would like to speak to him about a matter of mutual concern.

Boyd recently said he was planning to set aside the "student hours" to make himself more available to students.

The "student hours" is an attempt to provide time when no appointments are necessary for any student who wishes to meet and talk with the president.

The first student hours are scheduled for Thursday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. in Boyd's Johnson Hall office.
