

CSPA to hold panel talk

The Wallace School of Community Service and Public Administration invites all students interested in exploring careers, internships, or projects in the field of corrections to a panel discussion at noon today in the EMU.

Guests from the Oregon State Division of Corrections, the Lane County Juvenile Court, Lane County Youth Cares Inc. and the Eugene Police Department will discuss career possibilities in the state, county and local corrections agencies.

Students can learn how to become involved in institutional detention, groups homes, juvenile programs and work release centers.

Students to get interviews

Four University students in the Wallace School of Community Service and Public Administration have been selected for interviews for a new presidential management internship program.

The students, Anna Gottlieb, Mary Hopkins, Kathy Marshall and John Yanov, were nominated along with seven others from Oregon for the national competition.

The program, designed by the Carter administration, is intended to combine the present federal civil service at the mid-management level with qualified recent graduates of public administration programs across the country.

Circus comes to campus

The Royal Lichtenstein Quarter-Ring Sidewalk Circus will perform at noon Thursday in the EMU Ballroom.

Clowns, animals, magicians, jugglers, story-tellers and pole balancers will all get into the act.

This year's fifteen act performance will feature an extra-sensory perception demonstration, a mime-comic and "Peppy" the high-flying dog.

Admission to the circus, sponsored by the EMU Cultural Forum, is free.

Admission deadline soon

Students who hope to gain admission for the study of architecture at the University next fall must apply for admission by Feb. 15, Jim Buch, University director of admissions, announced.

the University, he said, are available from high school and community college counselors throughout Oregon.

The early deadline applies only to students interested in the study of architecture, interior architecture or landscape architecture. Buch said applicants should indicate "architecture" as their major field of interest on their application blank.

Rock out to Hollywood

Who is Robert Zimmerman? George Duke played keyboard for what rock group?

Persons knowing the answers to these and 22 other similar questions are eligible to win a trip to Hollywood or 1,164 other prizes in the Budweiser Rock & roll Trivia Contest.

Al Carosi, of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., says the trivia contest is one portion of a concerted effort by Budweiser to associate itself with the lifestyles of young adults.

"Obviously, beer and rock music are an integral facet of such lifestyles," he says.

To be eligible to win, entrants must answer all 24 questions correctly. All winners will be selected from a random drawing.

To receive an entry form, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope no later than March 6, 1978 to: Budweiser Rock Music Trivia, P.O. Box 6226, Blair, Neb. 68009.

All entries must be returned by March 31.

The Budweiser Rock & Roll Trivia Contest is open to residents of the U.S. of legal drinking age in their states.

The contest is sponsored by Budweiser in conjunction with CBS Records, with prizes provided by Budweiser, CBS Records and Sansui Electronics. It was developed by Campus Promotions of New York, N.Y.

ESCAPE to hold marathon

A chance for students and faculty to dance the night away is coming to the EMU Ballroom when the ESCAPE Field Studies Program holds its annual dance marathon, Saturday, Feb. 18. Students are urged to collect their pledge money now.

The marathon is a fund-raising effort for ESCAPE, a student-run program that matches college students' skills to community needs. ESCAPE supplies volunteer work to elementary and secondary schools and to community service agencies.

"Anyone has the opportunity to compete in the marathon for prizes donated to the program by Eugene-Springfield area businesses," says marathon Coordinator, Tomi Hall.

"All you need to do is sign up in the ESCAPE office, 327 EMU, pick up a pledge sheet and start talking your friends into pledging money for every hour that you dance."

Hall says the prizes will be awarded to the top four fundraisers.

"Mellow Brothers Waterbeds graciously donated a waterbed as one of the prizes," Hall says. Others include a typewriter from Oregon Typewriter and Recorder Co., a 10-speed bicycle from Collins Cycle Shop and a dinner for two from The Refectory restaurant.

In the midst of the ten-hour marathon is a public dance for non-participants that begins at 9 p.m. The Schwabke Bros. will play four hours and admission is $1.50 per person.

Anyone wanting further information on the ESCAPE marathon can call the ESCAPE office at 686-4351.

Spend spring vacation sailing around Florida

American Youth Hostels, Inc., America's largest non-profit outdoor travel organization for more than 44 years, has a suggestion for students on spring break — a sailing vacation to the Florida Gulf Coast Islands.

Every Monday through the end of April a 26-foot sailing ship will leave Ft. Meyers, Fla., on a five-day gulf swimming and snorkeling cruise. The cost is $179 including all food, and the trip is open to everyone. Expert informal sailing instruction for novices is included.

For information about the "Sea-Hosteling" way to spend the upcoming spring vacation, write Jerry Barron, AYH Metropolitan Detroit Council, 3024 Coolidge, Berkley, Mich. 48072.
