Camp seeks summer help

The Oregon Trail Section of the American Camping Association is holding its summer camp staff recruitment day in the EMU, room to be posted, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today.

Representatives from Oregon youth camps will interview potential summer staff members for positions ranging from camp directors to cooks to cabin counselors.

All interested persons are urged to drop by and check on the opportunities for summer employment. Contact Jim Stratton at 686-4356 for more information.

Streets, today at noon to bring out the festive nature of Valentine's Day and Oregon's birthday.

The flags are the result of the combined efforts of the Lane Regional Arts Council, the City of Eugene and the local office of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act. They are designed by Celeste LeBlanc, currently employed by the arts council.

Chariots discussed in guest's lecture

A classic sport that lives on in small competitions around the world will be the subject of a free slide-illustrated lecture in Room 123 Science I, at 8 tonight.

Prof. Jo-Ann Shelton, a scholar of classic Roman drama at the University of California, Santa Barbara, and a prize-winning horsewoman, will speak on "Chariot Racing in Imperial Rome."

Open hours set at Boyd's office

Open student hours will be held by University Pres. William Boyd from 11 a.m. to noon today.

Any student who wants to meet with the President is invited to visit with Boyd during designated student hours.

Visitations are usually limited to about 15 minutes. No appointments are necessary. However, students may wish to call the president's Office in advance to reserve a place during scheduled student hours. Those wishing to reserve time blocks can call Christine Leonard at 686-3036.

Women's group plans classes

The Women's Referral and Resource Service will sponsor a series of body awareness classes for women to be held on the University campus.

The workshop, which will include four two-hour sessions, will cover women's menstrual cycles, vaginal infections, speculum exams and menopause.

The first class will be held Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. The other sessions will be held the following three Wednesdays.

For more information, or to register, contact the Women's Referral and Resource Service in Suite 1 of the EMU, 686-3327.

Portland rabbi to visit

Rabbi Alan Berg from Portland's Congregation Beth Israel will give a talk entitled "The End of the American Jewish Community," Wednesday at noon in the EMU, room to be posted.

The Rabbi's visit is sponsored by the Jewish Student Union (JSU) and is the first of a series of lectures on contemporary Jewish themes by Rabbis from Portland's congregations.

For more information, contact the JSU at 686-4366.

Drum group beats music

The University Percussion Ensemble, under the direction of Prof. Charles Dowd, will perform a free concert at Beall Concert Hall at 8 tonight.

Featured will be Kevin Super, a third-year percussion major, who will perform Cadenza, a timpani solo by Everett Firth and Orion M. 42 by British avant garde composer Reginald Smith-Brindle.

Other portions of the program include the first Northwest performance of "4 For Percussion" by Cleveland composer Donald Erb and "Third Construction For Percussion Quartet" by John Cage.

Matchmaker claims no money guarantee

Grace Henderson, a Eugene matchmaker featured in the Feb. 2, 1978 Emerald, does not claim to have a money-back guarantee as the article reported. She has returned money to unsatisfied customers on occasion, but it is not a set policy.
