

Oregon, Canadian art to be displayed

Four exhibitions will be displayed for the public at the University Museum of Art beginning with a reception Sunday and continuing through April 2.

"Canadian Landscapes" will be displayed to represent current art movements and the vastness of Canada. The contemporary art will range from abstract to realistic works.

The exhibit is a gift from the Cultural Affairs Division of the Department of External Affairs of Canada. The Eugene Parks and Recreation Department has provided additional funds.

The work of Thom Hacker of the University's architecture department will be featured in the second exhibit, "Earth, Stone and Wood."

The display includes wood and clay models, pencil, chalk and charcoal drawings, along with black and white photos of four projects designed between 1967 and 1977. Richard Garfield also of architecture department collaborated on the project.

Color Xerox prints by Roberta Wilson, formerly of Eugene, will be on display in the focus gallery. The prints were made by experimental use of the commercial Xerox machine.

The fourth exhibit will display color prints by Henry Holmes Smith at the Oregon Gallery. Included are color dye prints of "refraction drawings." This cameraless photography depicts themes of both everyday life and the myth of ancient legend.

Students sign miners petition

More than 200 University students have signed a petition supporting the miner's strike in eastern United States. The petition will be sent to the Miners Right to Strike Committee in West Virginia.

The support petition was passed out at last week's showing of "Harlan County, U.S.A." by the Revolutionary Communist Youth Brigade.

The document states student support for the miners' right to strike over local grievances during the life of their contracts and of full restoration, increase and guarantee of all pensions and medical benefits.

The petition continues to claim power shortages and increased air pollution from the use of "dirtier" coal is the sole responsibility of the coal companies failing to comply with miner demands.

Pres. Carter is currently looking for a way to terminate the record 78-day strike by 160,000 coal workers.

Freshman wins raffle, Oregon/UCLA tickets

Dean Huggins, a freshman from Portland, has won an athletic department raffle for two free tickets to the Oregon-UCLA game Saturday.

Athletic Dir. John Caine provided the tickets to encourage University students to pick up their winter term registration verifications. Although all students were eligible for the Feb. 6 drawing, only those who had picked up their verifications by Feb. 17 had a chance to win the tickets.

Names of three students were drawn ahead of Huggins, but they had not picked up their verifications.

As in past terms, only about 50 percent of the student body has bothered to pick up their verifications, according to Assist. Registrar Chris Munoz. Without verification sheets, students cannot be certain they are correctly registered for the courses and grade options.

The sheets are still available at the registrar's office at Oregon Hall.

Munoz refused to release the names of those students who would have won the raffle had they picked up their verification sheets, saying it would cause them "embarrassment and anger."

Huggins "was surprised to say the least." The registrar's office called him Tuesday at 8 a.m. "At first I thought it was a prank, I mean who would call at 8 to tell you you've won a raffle." Later on in the day he remembered the promotion to pick up the class verifications.

He plans to attend the game, "now I'm just figuring out who to ask. My dad's birthday is tomorrow, I might ask him."
