Ron Sloy (24) went three fine innings for Oregon, but the Ducks saw an early 11-0 lead dissolve before beating Willamette 15-13.

Oregon gets a big jolt but still wins 15-13

You don't give up nine runs in one inning and expect to win a baseball game, but that's exactly what happened to Oregon in their game Wednesday afternoon against Willamette University.

Leading 12-2 going into the sixth inning, the Ducks appeared to have everything under control. The sun shone down on basking fans and Willamette pitchers were either throwing balls in the dirt or right down the middle where Oregon bats were eagerly waiting to do their work.

Even Oregon head coach Mel Krause was in high spirits, moving along the bench, joking and smiling with his players.

But suddenly the wind picked up, as did Willamette. Just when everybody thought the game was as good as over and that it was time to go home and put on some warmer clothes, the visiting Wildcats put together nine runs on six hits to make it a one-run game.

The Ducks did manage to keep their composure, however, scoring three runs in the bottom of the seventh and hanging on for a 15-13 win. But it had still been a scare.

"The spectators ought to be happy about it," said Krause with a mocking smile after it was all over. "They're always complaining that there's not enough offense."

"Actually it was good to get the reserves in and give them a chance to play under a pressure situation," said Krause, returning to a more serious mood. "There were times that we could have ended that big inning but we couldn't make the play."

"One of our problems all year has been breaking down in one big inning during a game," he said.

The Oregon victory was its second non-league win in two days. A two-run homer by Tom Dodd in the 10th inning of Tuesday's game against Portland State had given them the first.

The Ducks now travel to Pullman for a three-game Northern Division series against Washington State. The Cougars, last year's Northern Division champs, currently own a 2-1 win-loss record while the Ducks are in first at 3-0.

Sophomore Adam Berlin has been tabbed by Krause to start Friday's single game while Dean Kegler and Glenn Fisher are likely starters for Saturday's doubleheader.

Chicago-area prep coach named to dual Oregon post

Chris Voelz, a top high school volleyball coach from the Chicago area, was named Monday as Oregon's new volleyball coach and assistant athletic director.

Voelz, 28, coached the volleyball teams of Maine South High School in Park Ridge, Ill., to a 122-42 record in seven years. In addition, Voelz also coached basketball and softball in the suburban Chicago league, long regarded as one of the strongest interscholastic volleyball areas in the country outside of Los Angeles.

After four years of volleyball at Illinois State, Voelz received her master's degree in secondary education from Northern Illinois in 1974.

She will begin her duties at Oregon in August at an annual salary of $17,000.

OCE trips Duck softball

MONMOUTH — Oregon College of Education scored a run in the bottom of the seventh inning to ruin Oregon's comeback bid and win at women's softball 10-9.

The Ducks scored five times in the top of the final inning to knot the score at 9-9, but OCE won the game when Tracie Ranf singled sharply to left field scoring Linda Kilgore.

Hanna Munson led the Oregon hitters, cracking two triples in four times at bat. The loss dropped Oregon's season record to 0-7.

Ducks fifth in Texas tourney

HOUSTON — Oregon's sixth-ranked golf team managed to parlay a bad day into fifth place in the All-American Intercollegiate tournament being held here through Saturday.

The Ducks, who have been making a semi-permanent home in Texas for the better part of this month, stand behind the other top schools in the nation in the 26-team, 72 hole affair at the Atascocita Country Club in Houston.

Jeff Sanders, Oregon's top linksman, had what for him amounts to a terrible day, as the junior All-American from 1976 shot an appalling nine-over par 81.

"They were tight today," said the Ducks' Coach, Jim Ferguson. "But they have the patience to shoot under par."

Oklahoma State leads after the first round with a team total of 283, followed by Brigham Young with a 284 total. Oregon has a team score of 292, nine shots off the Cowboys' lead.

Scott Tuttle leads Oregon with a two-under par 70, which ties him with two other golfers for fifth place. Brent Murray had a 72, Doug Hixson a 74, and Jon Heselwood a 76 for the Ducks.

Oregon lost a match to Houston last week, also in Texas.

Team scores — Oklahoma State 283, Brigham Young 284, Georgia 288, Houston 289, Oregon 292.

Individual — Bob Clampett, BYU, 66; D. Shirley, Auburn, 67; D. Baker, Arkansas, 68; Chip Beck, Georgia, 69; Jay Alcorn, Oklahoma State, 70; B. Harrison, Oklahoma State, 70; Scott Tuttle, Oregon, 70. Other finishers — Oregon, Brent Murray 72, Doug Hixson 74, Jon Heselwood, 76, Jeff Sanders 81.
