

NICSA needs faculty

The Northwest Interinstitutional Council on Study Abroad (NICSA), a consortium of fifteen universities and colleges which sponsors a Liberal Arts Program in London; Avignon, France; and Colonge, Germany, is calling for faculty for the 1979-80 academic year. The program is operated on a quarter system and instructors generally serve for one quarter.

Instruction is at the undergraduate level and proposed courses must be well adapted to the locale in which they are taught, making full use of local resources and excursions. Courses may relate to any field. Instructors have come from such departments as history, political science, English and music.

Instructors are expected to be accessible to students and often find themselves filling the role of counselor, academic advisor, finance officer and guide. Instructors should possess qualities of imagination, tolerance and flexibility, and demonstrate a commitment to undergraduate, liberal arts curriculum.

Applications and further information may be obtained from the Office of International Student Services, 172 Oregon Hall, 686-3206. Application deadline is October 12.

Film to show on problem of infant formula

"Bottle Babies" will be shown Wednesday, 7 p.m. at 1414 Kincaid St. (Koinonia Center). This award winning documentary deals with the problem of infant formula abuse. The showing is sponsored by CALC/INFANT, a local group with membership in the National Infant Formula Action Coalition (INFANT). INFANT is a grass roots movement calling on the public to boycott all products of Nestle, the largest seller of infant formula in the Third World.

The INFANT group is planning extensive publicity campaigns to inform the public. During October these will be especially directed at a boycott of Nestle candies.

Bridge prints on sale

In an effort to promote the preservation of Lane County's wooden covered bridges, local surveyor and part-time artist Larry Olson is donating all the proceeds from the sale of his covered bridge sketches for a year to a special covered bridge fund.

Olson has donated 16" x 20" prints suitable for framing of the following covered bridges: Horse Creek Bridge, Earnest Bridge, Goodpasture Bridge, and Lowell Bridge. Single prints are available for $3 each and may be purchased at the Lane County Museum and the Lane County Information Center in Harris Hall.

Olson's donation is an attempt to generate interest and private support for the preservation of Lane County's 21 covered bridges, 19 of which are in county ownership. Lane County has a higher concentration of covered bridges than any other similar sized area in the world. Tourists from all over the United States know and seek out Lane County's bridges because of the national attention they receive.

Olson feels that such a resource should be preserved, and feels that private revenues might help supplement costs incurred from maintaining, recording or possibly relocating the county's covered bridges.

Persons interested in obtaining copies of the prints may do so at the Lane County Museum, 740 West 13th Ave., Eugene. The Museum is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The Museum is closed Fridays.

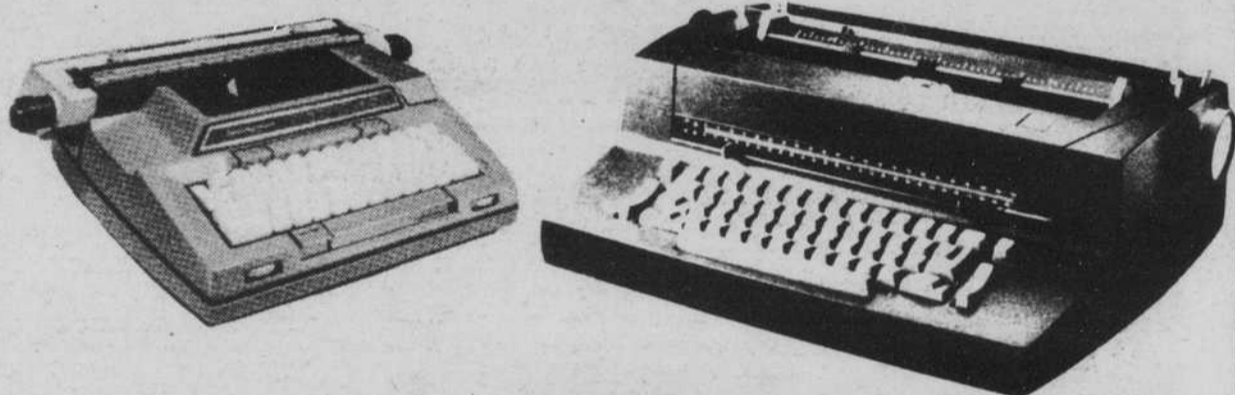

Copies are also available at the Lane County Information Center, located in the lobby of Harris Hall, 125 East 8th Ave., Eugene from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

For additional information, please contact the Lane County Information Center, 687-4210 or toll free 1-800-452-6379.

People who live in mobile homes and wonder what Ballot Measure 6 or 11 would do to their tax bills are welcome to attend a discussion of mobile home concerns Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Springfield Utility Board meeting room.

State Representative Nancie Fadeley, who arranged the meeting, says that other mobile home issues such as landlord-tenant problems, weatherization needs and warranty deficiencies will be discussed.

The Political Science Student Union will have a meeting at 4:30 p.m., EMU, room to be posted. Any interested political science major, or anyone who is considering becoming one, is invited to attend this meeting.

State Representative Grattan Kerans will be the guest speaker at the Student Bar Association's weekly "brown bag" political lunches today in Room 129 in the Law School. His topic will be "6 or 11????" Kerans is a leading legislative expert on taxation and revenue. Everyone is welcome.

Common Cause will meet Wednesday at 7:30 in the EMU. Mike Farely, state director of Common Cause, will speak.

MISCELLANEOUS

Registration for the WR 121 examination to be given in November closes soon. Results will be available prior to winter term registration. Candidate should sign up in the Counseling Center, 150 Campbell Hall, this week.

The Counseling Center will be sponsoring a group this fall for women who are interested in working on their sexual problems. The group will offer treatment and provide participants to share their concerns with other women. If you are interested or have any questions, call the Counseling Center at 686-3227.
