

KLCC series continues

KLCC will present the second of a three-part series of programs dealing with human sexuality Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. with Susan Delisle of Lane County Family Planning. Delisle will be joined by Lynda Harter, teen outreach worker with Family Planning, discussing adolescent sexuality.

Next week, Delisle and Steve Modesitt of the county's multiphasic health screening program for seniors will discuss the sexuality of middle and old age.

The series is produced and hosted by KLCC's Iris Dudman. For more information, contact Dudman afternoons at 747-4500, ext. 262, or at 746-6133.

League informs voters

One public service sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Central Lane County is its Speakers' Bureau. The Speakers' Bureau is comprised of members knowledgeable about issues of local and state concern, and able to provide non-partisan information concerning such issues.

If your group or organization is interested in learning more about this service, or about such topics as the November ballot measures, housing, solid waste disposal, or planning and zoning, please call Sylvia Hanley at 345-4951, or the League of Women Voters at 343-7917.
