

Researcher featured

A public lecture by a scientist renowned for his pioneering experiments with the human brain will highlight the annual meeting of the Western Conference of Linguistics, to be held at the University Friday and Saturday.

Harry Whitaker, a University of Rochester (N.Y.) neuropsychologist and neurolinguist known for his efforts to map sites in the brain involved in the language function, will deliver the conference keynote address at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Room 167 of the EMU. His talk will be entitled "On Mapping Language in the Cerebral Cortex."

All conference activities, to start at 9 a.m. each day in the EMU, will be open to the public free of charge.

Non-traditionals to meet

Six informational meetings about courses and services about returning to school will be offered free of charge during October and November at Lane Community College.

The sessions will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on six consecutive Tuesdays, starting Oct. 24. The meetings will be held in Room 220 of the Center Building on the main campus.

Discussion leaders and topics will include: Oct. 24, Carol Morse, coordinator of the Community Center for Family Counseling, "Wife, Mother and Returning Woman"; Oct. 31, Counselor Betty Vail on "What is Assertiveness?"; Nov. 7, Counselor Marje Wynia on "Coping Skills for Stress and Depression"; Nov. 14, Anne Stewart, director of Women's Programs, on "Upward Mobility"; Nov. 21, Leslie Rasor, associate director of Women's Programs, on "Broadening Options"; and Nov. 28, panel of four women who returned to school.

The series called "What's at Lane for Returning Women," is co-sponsored by the Women's Awareness Center and the Counseling Department. For further information, contact Marge Holland, career information specialist, or Missy Wilkinson, practicum student in counseling at 747-4501, ext. 391.

Book guides non-smokers

The Eugene-Springfield chapter of the Association for Non-Smokers' Rights is putting together the 1979 edition of its "Non-Smoker's Guide to Dining Out in Eugene and Springfield."

In addition to the 52 restaurants listed in the 1978 edition published last summer, the 1979 guide will include information on six or seven additional restaurants which established their non-smoking sections or facilities after the 1978 guide went to press.

For further information about the guide, restaurant officials (and others) can contact the Oregon Lung Association at 1262 Lawrence St. #7, or phone 342-3329.

Deadline for inclusion in the guide is the first week in November.

Corrections, amplifications

An analysis of the issues in dispute between the University and the Graduate Teaching Fellows Federation in Tuesday's Emerald contained two errors.

The University's original salary proposal called for two retroactive pay increases plus a 5 percent hike scheduled for Dec. 1, 1978. Later the University altered its offer, proposing the two retroactive raises in addition to the choice between a 5 percent increase beginning Sept. 15 and a 6 percent hike starting Dec. 1.

Also, a sentence referring to union arguments on salaries should have read, "Inflation, the union argues, has eroded GTF salaries so that a pay hike today of 45 percent still would leave GTFs with lower real wages than they received in 1969..."

Also, due to a typographical error, a reference to the average Chicago garbageman's pay in a Tuesday Letter to the Editor was incorrect. The figure should have read $18,000.

Theater hosts Shakespeare

Three actors from the Oregon Shakespearean Festival in Ashland will perform scenes from Shakespeare at the University at 4:30 p.m. today.

The hour-long presentation is free and open to the public and will be held in Robinson Theatre. The presentation is hosted by Theatre 4:30, a group of University theatre students.

Appearing in Wednesday's scenes will be Michael Santo, Jack Cantwell and Mark Smith.

Santo and Cantwell joined the Ashland company in 1977. Last season Santo had the title role in "Richard III." He also appeared in "The Tempest," "Mother Courage and Her Children" and "Private Lives."

Cantwell also played in "Mother Courage" and "The Tempest." In addition he appeared in "Taming of the Shrew" and "American Buffalo."

Smith, who joined the company last summer, appeared in "Timon of Athens," "Richard III" and "The Tempest."

Earlier today the three actors will give private performances for a service club and a nursing home.

Foreign teens seek homes

The Intercambio Student Exchange Program is seeking host families for 50 Central American students who want to come to Oregon for two months this winter.

The students (12-18 years) from Nicaragua and El Salvador come to practice English and attend school with the children of the host family.

Requirements for host families include having a child of approximately the same age as the student.

The purpose of the program is to acquaint American and Central American youth with the cultures of each other's land and to strengthen international understanding through our young leaders of tomorrow.

Persons interested in being a host may contact Pat Brodkorb, 368 rest Drive, Eugene 97405, or phone 345-7721. Call collect.
