Male liberation included among workshop topics

The current status of men's liberation will be the focus of a weekend conference to be held in Seattle, Dec. 1-3.

The "Northwest Regional Conference on Men and Masculinity" will bring together men's groups from the Pacific Northwest and British Columbia. It is being sponsored by the Seattle Metrocenter YMCA.

Registration is $9 and the conference is open to the public and women are welcome to participate.

For more information, contact Metrocenter, (206)447-4551, 909 4th Ave., Seattle, WA 98104.

Shah support draws fire

Several local Iranian student groups will join together today for a demonstration protesting American support for the recent establishment of a military government in Iran. The protest will begin at noon at the EMU terrace and will move downtown for an afternoon rally.

The protestors will also make a stop in front of the offices of the Eugene Register-guard to object to the "American news media's misrepresentation of the true situation in Iran."

"Iran today appears very much like Vietnam in 1964, and that should be of grave concern to the American people," writes the Iranian students' Association in a sheet advertising the demonstration. "We hope that those Americans who have gone through the Chilean and Vietnamese experience will not let such a thing happen again. By joining our demonstration on Friday, you can raise your voice in protest against the U.S. government's support of the shah."
