From Associated Press reports

WASHINGTON — Pres. Carter said Thursday "I do mean business" in sticking to the administration's new anti-inflation program despite what he termed a serious problem of rising complaints from special interests.

Shrugging off suggestions that his get-tough economic policies might cost him political support, Carter said on the contrary that they not only are "necessary for the country" but will prove to be "good politics."

At a breakfast meeting with reporters at the White House, the president declared that the alternative to his recent intensified efforts to curb inflation and rescue the dollar might be "a recession or even a depression."

SEATTLE — Police are looking for a man who at least three times in three months has attacked women pedestrians, knocking them down and running off with one of his victim's high-heeled shoes.

"The guy definitely is different, there's no question about that," Lt. Robert Holter, police robbery commander, said Thursday. "He's got a fetish. Some people have fetishes for clothing — bras, women's underclothes — this man has a fetish for shoes."

Holter said that beside the known incidents, other cases may have gone unreported because "a lot of women would rather not go through the problems of making a report and having to explain this."

VATICAN CITY — Pope John Paul II urged nuns Thursday to look like nuns, always to wear their "simple and apt" habits to demonstrate their religious status. He warned them against being overwhelmed by "public opinion, even an ecclesiastic one."

Addressing about 600 mother superiors of religious orders, the pope said nuns should not permit any feminist claim to overshadow their call to a chaste, poor and obedient life in the Roman Catholic Church.

HILLSBOROUGH, N.J. — A New Jersey man was arraigned on charges he kidnapped and assaulted his 23-year-old daughter in an attempt to deprogram her from a cult known as the "Circle of Friends."

Joan Stedrak filed charges against her father, Anthony J. Stedrak, of Pennsauken, and Galen Kelly, a Kingston, N.Y., deprogrammer, after they allegedly forced her into a van and drove to Kingston. Following arraignment before Municipal Court Judge Richard Koernor Wednesday, the woman said she wants her father to "suffer the consequences of his actions." Attorney Arthur D'Italia said Stedrak would plead innocent. Kelly is to be arraigned Nov. 22.

Carter says 'a few' changes in treaty may be necessary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disappointed with the slow pace of negotiations, President Carter said Thursday it may be necessary, "in a few cases," to modify the Camp David agreements in order to wrap up a peace treaty between Egypt and Israel.

In a meeting with reporters, Carter said the two sides did not trust each other and each was interpreting the September agreements to its own best advantage.

The negotiations, now in their sixth week, are snagged over the Palestinian issue and several other disputes. In a move to regain lost momentum, the United States has proposed that within a year of the treaty's ratification, elections be held to set up a Palestinian authority on the West Bank of the Jordan River and in the Gaza Strip.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's response was delivered to Carter at the White House by Hosni Mubarak, the Egyptian vice president. A spokesman said Mubarak "explained precisely the Egyptian view of the interrelationship between the peace treaty and future negotiations for an overall settlement, including the status of the Palestinians."

No details of Sadat's message were disclosed, including whether he had insisted on a timetable for setting up Palestinian autonomy on the West Bank of the Jordan River and in the Gaza Strip.

Over the past few days, a number of reports from the Middle East indicated that Sadat was proposing another formula for linking a treaty with Israel to the Palestinian question. This was said to be centered on immediate negotiations between Israel and Egypt over the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip, an enclave of 400,000 Palestinian Arabs that Egypt lost in the 1967 Six-Day war after 19 years of control.

Israel has postponed considering changes in the treaty package conveyed by Secretary of State Cyrus Vance to Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin in New York late Sunday.
