

New arts review planned peanuts®

Many artists and writers in the Eugene area who have been frustrated in their efforts to get their poems, short stories and graphics published may now have an opportunity to see their work in print.

Members of the Robert Clark Honors College have begun work on a new arts review, scheduled to appear for sale in early May. While many of the students and faculty members involved in the project are in the Honors College, manuscripts and artwork are being solicited from the entire campus population, and indeed from other parts of Eugene as well.

GLYPHS, the name of the new publication, is taken from a Greek root meaning "to carve," and co-editors Rob McSweeney and David Honig feel that they have carried out a new approach to the problem of selecting manuscripts for publication.

"Everything we receive will be treated to a careful reading by several of us," McSweeney remarks, "and if the writer can't meet with us, we'll provide written comments on his work."

The principle of open communication applies to GLYPHS' treatment of graphics as well. "We want to get the very best out of the artists who contribute," comments Hoffer. "It's a cooperative venture."

The deadline for submissions has been set at March 31; contributors are encouraged to bring their work to the Honors College, on the third floor of Chapman Hall, as early as possible, to ensure that sufficient attention may be devoted to promising artists and writers. A stamped, self-addressed envelope should be included with the materials to enable the staff to contact contributors.

OSPIRG credits available

One to three credit hours in economics, political science, journalism, law and many other areas are offered through the Oregon Student Public Interest Research Group, (OSPIRG).

Currently, OSPIRG volunteers are involved in such areas as civil rights, health, housing, economic development, water resources, wild rivers and wildlife. SEARCH classes such as the Public Interest Economics course involve students in OSPIRG work.

Inspired by Ralph Nader, the Oregon Student Public Interest Research Group was created by Oregon students in 1971 to do research into questions such as these.

For more information, drop by OSPIRG's office in EMU Suite 1 or call 686-4073.

Anti-Nazi opens lecture series

A German anti-Nazi crusader will speak in Eugene Thursday at 8 p.m. at Central Presbyterian Church, 15th Avenue and Ferry Street.

Beate Klarsfeld's talk, "Wherever They May Be: One Woman's Moral Crusade Against Nazism," opens a series of four lectures on "Faith and the Human Condition" sponsored by the University Campus Christian Ministry, the Jewish Student Union at the University and Temple Beth Israel in Eugene.

Her talk Thursday is open to the public. Tickets are available at the Campus Christian Ministry, 1414 Kincaid St., or through the Jewish Student Union at the University and Temple Beth Israel. Tickets also are available at the door. General admission is $10 for the series or $3 for individual lectures.

Community education open

Residents of the Eugene-Springfield area will have the opportunity through Monday, Dec. 18, to pre-register to attend some 350 University classes this winter through the school's Community Education Program.

Area residents will be able to register for the specially selected Winter Term classes by mail, or in person at the University Registrar's Office, Room 220, Oregon Hall.

Pre-registration forms, which can be mailed in or submitted in person, are available at the Registrar's Office and in copies of a Community Education Program supplement which appeared Tuesday, Dec. 5 in the Eugene Register-Guard. Copies of the Register-Guard will be available at several area libraries, banks and schools.

The Community Education Program allows individuals not seeking a degree to attend any of the University's entire range of classes, for which they meet prerequisite requirements, without gaining formal admission to the University.

Participants can take up to six credit hours per term and completed work can be transferred later toward the requirements for a degree.

Community Education students pay $17 per credit hour for undergraduate work and $37 per credit hour for graduate work, compared to regular enrollment costs of $64 per credit hour for undergraduate classes and $84 per credit hour for graduate classes.

Persons who miss the Dec. 18 pre-registration deadline, or those who want to take courses not included in the pre-registration program, will be able to attend a Winter Term Community Education Program registration session from 6:30 p.m. until 8 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 4, in Mac Court.

Handicapped rights detailed

Laws and regulations regarding the employment of the handicapped and educational opportunities are the topic of a continuing series of workshops sponsored by the Affirmative Action Office. Faculty, staff, and students are invited to the remaining two meetings to be held Thursday at 10 a.m. and Friday at 8:30 a.m. The 1 1/2 hour workshops will be held in the EMU, room to be posted.

briefs

MEETINGS

There will be a short Hawaii Club Meeting tonight at 7 p.m. in the EMU, room to be posted. Meeting will concern luau and ski trip. More information call Edsel at 343-9876.

Phi Beta Lambda Consultants meet today at 5 p.m. in Room 242 Gilbert. We will be discussing plans for next term. Everyone please attend.

FORUM

There will be a slide show presentation on "Human and Economic Rights in South Korea" today at 12:30 p.m. in the EMU. Tim Shorrock, graduate student in Asian Studies, and Lorraine Cullen, recently returned from South Korea and Japan, will be the speakers. They will discuss South Korea's export economy, the labor movement, and the movement for human rights. Sponsored by Korea Information Action Project. International management students welcome.

POLICY

The Emerald's briefs column is open to anyone wishing to announce meetings, lectures or miscellaneous events. Briefs are run only once and are subject to space limitations. They should be typed and triple-spaced in a 65-character margin. Include all pertinent information, including the date you want it to run. Also, include a name and phone number in case we have questions. Events with donations or admission charges will not be accepted.

ORIENT EXPRESS

TOTAL MADNESS FREE!

you'll taste the method in our madness.

Drive up window

mini-order of shrimp with any purchase & coupon

Good Dec 5, 6 & 7

11:30 - 8:30 pm

Located at Hwy 99N at Roosevelt next to DJ's market.

oregon daily emerald

The Oregon Daily Emerald is published Monday through Friday except during exam weeks and vacations, by the Oregon Daily Emerald Publishing Co., Inc., at the University of Oregon, Eugene, Ore. 97403.

The Oregon Daily Emerald operates independently of the University with offices on the third floor of the Erb Memorial Union and is a member of the Associated Press.

Emerald subscriptions are $7 per term and $20 per year.

News and Editorial 686-5511
Display Advertising and Business 686-3712
Classified Advertising 686-4343
Production 686-4381

Editor Tom Wolfe
Managing Editor Melody Ward
News Editor Marv Fjordbeck
Photo Editor Patrick Sullivan
Graphics Editor Tom Ettel
Editorial Page Editor Glen Gibbons
Sports Editor John Harris
Sports Supplement Editor Ken Sands

Entertainment Editor Judy Emerson
Wire Editor Kathleen Morje

Associate Editors
ASUO
Community Departments and Schools
Environment
Features
Local Politics
State Politics
State Systems and Student Services
Librarian
Night Editor
Asst. News Editor

Production Manager Sandra McMullen
Advertising Manager Carl Bryant
Sales Manager Tracy Simpson
Controller Jean Owrby

SPEND YOUR WINTER ON THE BEACH

POOL BOYS INTERNATIONAL, the world's largest resort concessionaire, has immediate openings for summer help in Daytona Beach, Ft. Lauderdale, Las Vegas, and Hawaii.

Applicants should be athletic, out-going and enjoy being outdoors. Duties include planning hotel social activities, managing beach concessions and day-to-day pool upkeep. Weekly earnings $200-$250.

All interested individuals should attend the group meeting which will be held from 12-4 until 12-8 at Job Service at 1511 Agate St.

See - Ms. Brockman

Individual interviews will be conducted in the afternoon following the group meeting.

$MAKE MUCH MONEY$

CAPTURE A TAN

HAVE FUN!