Filipinos plan native dances in celebration

Native folk dances will highlight the Christmas celebration and potluck dinner of the American Filipino Community Saturday from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Angie Collas Dean and Terry Aagsalud, former Filipiniana Dance Troupe director, will assist in the dances.

Participating families are requested to bring their favorite native dish and an inexpensive "white elephant" gift.

Other activities include a shower of coins for tots, disco dancing for teens and community singing.

To defray expenses, $5 per family or $2 per adult, will be charged. Checks may be sent to Adelina Wirch, the treasurer, at 2365 L. St., Springfield, 97477. Participating families are welcome to sponsor non-Filipino guests and may pay for them at the door.

Filipino Costume is suggested. The organization invites American Filipinos in the neighboring communities to join this Christmas celebration at the Emerald Park Recreation Center, 1400 Lake Drive in the River Road area.

University limits access to student lists

The University has slightly amended its administrative rule guiding and handling of student records.

According to Robert Bowlin, dean of students and University custodian of student records, a major reason for altering the administrative rule was to define more precisely policies covering the release of lists of student names — for example, a list of new students — to persons or organizations requesting them.

The rule completely restricts the release of student lists to individuals, organizations or commercial enterprises seeking to acquire the information "for personal or profit-making ventures."

Bowlin said another reason for altering the student records rule was to re-number its various sections in accordance with state requirements for administrative rules.

In compliance with state law, a temporary version of the amended student records rule was filed in August with the Secretary of State's office in Salem. At the University's request the temporary rule was adopted as a permanent rule last week.
