Corrections, amplifications

Cost of treatment through the Oregon Smokers Control Program will run on a sliding scale from $15 to $50, not $15-$30 as previously reported. Additionally a refundable deposit ranging from $15-$30 will also be required.

Africa program presented

A program on Operation Crossroads Africa will be presented at noon Thursday at the University in the EMU, room to be posted. The program is free and open to the public.

Speaking will be Paulette Nichols, assistant director of the New York-based organization.

Operation Crossroads Africa is a 21-year-old non-profit organization for international development and educational exchange. Through its programs volunteers may spend summers in rural African communities working in such areas as art, oral history, archeology, agriculture, public health, journalism and construction of public facilities. Students may arrange to receive academic credit for the work.

The organization has sent more than 5,000 volunteers to Africa since it began its programs.

Volunteer siblings needed

The Big Brother/Sister Program, which is funded by the Eugene 4J School District and has a University branch located in the Campus YWCA and YMCA, is conducting a special Big Brother/Sister Recruitment Week in an effort to recruit some 75 adult males to be a special friend to a youngster from a single-parent family.

The program says that it has found that the presence of a stable adult can have a positive impact on a child by providing a consistent and dependable relationship.

Big Brothers/Sisters are asked to commit themselves to this friendship for three terms and to keep up weekly, informal contacts in which they share their common interests.

For further information, stop by our table in the EMU during the week or call the University YMCA at 686-4431.
